YOGA EDGING CLOSER TO BECOMING PART OF ASIAD

Yoga may feature in the marquee sporting event according to Indian authorities who are in touch with Olympic Council of Asia...

OCA GENERAL ASSEMBLY'S VOTE PENDING

Indian Olympic Association president, P T Usha, on Monday said the OCA's Executive Board has agreed to include yoga and a confirmation from the OCA's General Assembly would pave the way for its inclusion to the event's programme. Usha said OCA acting president, Randhir Singh, informed her about EB's decision

INDIA'S BID BACKED BY PROMINENT FIGURES

- Usha, in a release, thanked sports minister Mansukh Mandaviya, who had earlier welcomed her initiative to get yoga included. Prime Minister Narendra Modi has also been a big advocate of yoga
- The ministry has already granted recognition to Yogasana Bharat for promotion and development of Yogasana as a competitive sport

ST CORPORATION SCAM

Ex-min's close aide moved ₹94.73 cr into accounts of fake firms

YATHIRAJU @ Bengaluru

THE ongoing investigation by the Criminal Investigation Department (CID) into the multi-crore scam in Karnataka Maharshi Valmiki Scheduled Tribes Development Corporation Ltd revealed that accused Nekunti Nagaraj (46), who is said to be a close aide of former minister for Tribal Welfare B Nagendra played a key role in the case. Named accused No. 10, Nagaraj allegedly illegally transferred Rs 94.73 crore from the corporation to various bank accounts of multiple fake companies.

Nagaraj was arrested by the CID on June 4 and remanded to judicial custody on June 18. He had allegedly actively taken part in the affairs of the Corporation and collected gold from some jewellery shops in lieu of the funds transferred into various bank accounts.

He had allegedly joined hands with Sathyanarayan, who is also arrested in connection with the scam that came to light when corporation's Accounts Officer Chandrashekar died by suicide.

The CID, in its objections to Nagaraj's bail petition, stated that the investigation is underway to ascertain who got those gold ornaments from Nagaraj. He is said to have deposited the money drawn from the Corporation's account and the gold into the accounts of unknown persons, who are yet to be identified, it added.

CID said it is investigating how the money was transferred from the corporation's bank account in the Vasanath Nagar branch of Union Bank of India to MG Road branch by putting pressure on the corporation Managing Director Padmanabh and Accounts Officer Parashuram allegedly through the minister.

The CID stated that the probe is on to know who mediated to get the seals, fake signatures and letterheads.

4 chilli farmers attempt suicide in Ballari district

KIRAN BALANNANAVAR @ Ballari

FOUR chilli farmers attempted suicide at Somasamudra village in Kurugodu taluk of Ballari district on Sunday after a private company which had purchased their produce has not cleared their payments for the last one-and-a-half years.

The four -- Rudresh (55), Hanumanth (40), Shekar (45) and Kunesh (50) -- consumed poison, while protesting along with other farmers against delayed payments.

They were admitted to Vijayanagara Institute of Medical Science, where their condition is stable.

Farmers said Bengaluru-based Agrigreed Pvt Ltd had bought chillies worth Rs 1.9 crore from 100 farmers. CONTINUED ON: P5

Rahul's fiery debut speech

Attacks BJP, saying its leaders are not Hindus; hits out at Agniveer scheme, NEET

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

THE Lok Sabha witnessed a massive showdown on Monday after Leader of Opposition Rahul Gandhi launched a blistering attack on the BJP in his debut speech, saying the leaders of the ruling party are not Hindus as they engage in "violence and hate" round the clock.

The remark prompted sharp responses from Prime Minister Narendra Modi and Union ministers Amit Shah and Rajnath Singh, accusing Rahul of portraying the entire Hindu community as violent.

In his speech that lasted nearly two hours, the Congress leader hit out at the government over a range of issues – from NEET to Agniveer to farm distress, unemployment and inflation among others.

Alleging that the BJP was instilling fear in all sections of society, Rahul invoked Lord Shiva and the teachings of Guru Nanak, Jesus Christ, Buddha and Mahavir to drive home the point that all religions preach, 'don't be scared, and do not scare others'.

"Lord Shiva says 'don't be scared,' shows the abhaya mudra, talks about ahimsa, but those who call themselves Hindus indulge in hatred, violence and untruths round the clock," he alleged, pointing towards the BJP MPs.

As the Treasury benches erupted in protest, Shah demanded an apology for hurting the sentiments of the Hindu community. An unfazed Rahul, however, hit back saying he was speaking about the BJP and neither the ruling party nor the RSS represent the entire Hindu society. "You are not Hindus. It is clearly written in Hinduism that one should stand with the truth and not back down from the truth or be scared of it," he said.

Taking potshots at the BJP over its defeat in Ayodhya after the Ram temple inauguration, Rahul said the voters have conveyed a clear message to the government for its failures. Holding the government responsible for the unrest in Manipur, he said the prime minister and home minister have totally neglected the state.

He also accused the BJP of threatening the minorities and spreading hatred and violence against them.

Referring to the NEET-UG row, Rahul said students do not believe in the exam because they feel it is for the rich and that there is no place in it for meritorious students.

MULTIPLE BREAKS

Rahul had to stop his speech several times as ministers Amit Shah, Rijiju, Bhupender Yadav and others made interventions. As he held up a picture of Lord Shiva, Speaker Birla said rules do not allow placards in the House

> When Hemant Soren or Arvind Kejriwal goes to jail, I should be concerned. When you unleash enforcement agencies on them, we should defend them. When you are a constitutional person, your personal aspirations should take a back seat

MODI MAKES TWO INTERVENTIONS; BJP SEEKS APOLOGY

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

BJP leaders on Monday launched a barrage of criticism both inside and outside Parliament against Leader of Opposition (LoP) Rahul Gandhi for alleging they are not Hindus as they promote division and violence.

While Prime Minister Narendra Modi in his first intervention in the debate said Rahul calling the entire Hindu society violent was a serious matter, Union Home Minister Amit Shah and other ministers demanded an apology from the Congress leader. In his second intervention during Rahul's speech, Modi said the Constitution has taught him to take the LoP seriously.

Referring to the Agniveer scheme, Rahul described how the family of a martyr is deprived of compensation from the Army. Defence Minister Rajnath Singh rebutted him by pointing out that an Agniveer who lays down his life in the line of duty gets a compensation of ₹1 crore. "This House is not for spreading lies. Rahul Gandhi should apologise to the House, to the country and to Agniveers," Shah said.

MSP issue

When Rahul alleged that the govt did not want to give a legal guarantee on MSP, agriculture minister Shivraj Chouhan accused him of misleading the House

Later, Union ministers Kiren Rijiju and Ashwini Vaishnaw did a media briefing and accused Rahul of denigrating the LoP post with his "utterly irresponsible" speech. Vaishnaw joined issue with Rahul who alleged that adequate compensation was not paid to the relocated shopkeepers in Ayodhya. "The state government and the administration provided ₹1,253 crore in compensation to 4,215 affected shopkeepers," he claimed.

Vaishnaw accused Rahul of insulting Hindus. "This is an old habit of the Congress. In 2010, P Chidambaram called Hindus terrorists, and in 2013, Sushil Shinde repeated it," he alleged.

Rijiju stated that the BJP has contested many of Rahul's claims and has requested action from the Speaker. "He will have to substantiate or apologise." Union Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman also alleged that the appeasement politics of the Congress and Rahul "starts and ends with Hindu hate".

PANEL FORMED

Govt may not fill post of Dy Speaker

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

AS uncertainty over the appointment of the deputy speaker post of the Lok Sabha continues, sources said the government is unlikely to move in this direction soon. The NDA is keeping the cards close to its chest on whether to keep the post or allot it to an INDIA bloc candidate. However, Speaker Om Birla's move on Monday to appoint a panel of chairpersons to help him run the House proceedings shows the government does not want to appoint a deputy speaker, sources said.

Addressing the House on Monday, Birla said he has named Jagdambika Pal (BJP), P C Mohan (BJP), Sandhya Ray (BJP), Dilip Saikia (BJP), Kumari Selja (Congress), A Raja (DMK), Dr Kakoli Ghosh Dastidar (TMC), Krishna Prasad Tenneti (TDP), and Awadhesh Prasad (SP) as members of the panel of chairpersons. This comes amid speculation that the INDIA bloc has reached a consensus over fielding Prasad, the Faizabad MP, for the deputy speaker post. Sources said if INDIA bloc puts up Prasad as its candidate, the BJP will find it difficult to oppose.

According to the Rules of Procedure and Conduct of Business in the Lok Sabha, these chairpersons preside over House proceedings when the Speaker is not in the Chair. They enjoy all powers vested in the Speaker.

By fielding Prasad, the Opposition is trying to send a message to the Dalit voters in Uttar Pradesh. "The government may not wish to send a wrong message by opposing Prasad's candidature," said an NDA leader.

Medha Patkar gets 5-month jail in 23-yr-old case

SUCHITRA MOHANTY @ New Delhi

A Delhi court on Monday sentenced social activist Medha Patkar to five months in jail in a 23-year-old defamation case brought against her by Delhi Lieutenant Governor Vinai Kumar Saxena.

The Metropolitan Magistrate Court also asked Patkar to pay ₹10 lakh as compensation to Saxena. In 2000, Saxena, who was then the president of Ahmedabad-based NGO, National Council for Civil Liberties, published an advertisement against the Narmada Bachao Andolan (NBA) led by Patkar. The NBA was opposing the construction of dams on the Narmada.

Responding to the ad, Patkar issued a press note saying Saxena was "mortgaging" the people of Gujarat and their resources before Bill Gates and the then World Bank president James Wolfensohn. Her press note also called Saxena a Gujarat government agent.

Saxena filed a defamation suit against her in 2001. "It is evident that the accused (Patkar) harbored a clear intention to defame the complainant through her press note," the Delhi court said in its verdict.

Rejecting Patkar's prayer to release her on probation, the magistrate said, "Considering the facts...damages, age and ailment, I am not inclined to give excessive punishment." The court, however, suspended the sentence for a month to enable her to file an appeal.

First murder case under new law booked in Hassan

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Hassan/Bengaluru

THE first murder case in the state under Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita (BNS), the new criminal law that came into force on Monday, was booked against a police constable in Hassan district. The first accident case under the new law too was registered in Hassan district, while in Bengaluru, the death of a 30-year-old homemaker in HSR Layout police limits was the first case registered under the new law.

Hassan city police booked Loknath, a police constable of Shantigrama police station, under Sections 85 (cruelty by husband), 103 (murder) and 3 (5) (common intention) of BNS for murdering his wife Mamata (40) by stabbing her in the chest and stomach on the premises of SP's office on Monday afternoon. Mamata had come to the SP office to give a complaint against Loknath for allegedly torturing her over family matters. Loknath, who had come there earlier, was reportedly watching her. When he attacked Mamata and she started screaming, some police constables near the office rushed to the spot. By then, Loknath had stabbed Mamata twice. She ran for 20 yards and then collapsed. The policemen caught Loknath and shifted Mamata to the Hassan Institute of Medical Sciences, where doctors declared her brought dead.

SP Mohamed Sujeeta said Loknath had a rift with Mamata over family and property issues and often quarrelled with her. Lokanath and Mamata married 14 years ago and have two children.

In Halebid, the police registered a case under Section 173 of BNS against Sagar, a car driver, who crashed his vehicle into another car that fell into a ditch killing Indu (67).

In Bengaluru, the suspicious death of a 30-year-old homemaker in HSR Layout police limits is said to be the first complaint registered under the new laws. The victim was found lying unconscious in the house by her father-in-law. P5

Trekking in Swiss — Hockey team's Oly prep

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN
@ Bengaluru

IN a week's time, the Indian men's hockey team will throw away their sports gear for some jackets, headlamps and hiking boots. As part of a team bonding exercise before the high-pressure environment of the Olympics, the contingent — the playing members and the support staff — will meet up with the side's mental conditioning coach, Paddy Upton, in Switzerland for a three-day camp.

"There will be no hockey there," Craig Fulton, coach of the national team, said during an interaction with this daily. "Everything that we need to focus on to be the best team we can be. Most have a good time doing it because it's been tough, training really hard. Sometimes, we also need to see the wood for the trees (laughs). The mountains could be what we need."

The men's team is scheduled to reach Paris on July 20 | HOCKEY INDIA

While there, the plan right now is to do some trekking before 2021 bronze medallists switch base to Netherlands for three friendlies before they leave for Paris on July 20.

The three-day session could also see the side have a spell with Mike Horn, a motivational coach who has worked with the Indian cricket, the Germany men's football team as well as Kolkata Knight Riders in the Indian Premier League. Doing these sort of team exercises is nothing new for Fulton's wards. Last year, they climbed Table Mountain. Before the Asian Games, the players were split into small teams and were asked to shoot short movies (movies were shot on a mobile camera before they were screened).

P R Sreejesh, who will be featuring in his fourth Olympics, spoke about why these exercises are vital. "Climbing the Table Mountain was a good experience," he said. "Different people had different goals; somebody wanted to finish first, a few just wanted to finish, others wanted to come last so they could motivate everybody else to finish. It was about showing mentality."

On the upcoming trip to Switzerland, Sreejesh said: "We are going to meet Mike Horn (Horn had taken the South African men's cricket team on an expedition to the Swiss Alps in 2012), I have read about his work in Paddy Upton's autobiography. That was so inspiring and I'm sure his lessons will help us at the Olympics. When you feel like you are breaking down or the team is breaking down, his experiences will help us make good decisions under those circumstances.

"It will be something new for us but that's what we require, we need to distract ourselves. Three days doing this before coming back to hockey will refresh us."

Indian civilian to get seat on next Blue Origin flight

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

WHILE an Indian astronaut is being trained by the US to land on the Moon at the International Space Centre, the Space Exploration and Research Agency (SERA), in collaboration with Blue Origin, has announced India as a partner nation in their human spaceflight programme for citizens from countries who have sent few or no astronauts to space.

An Indian citizen will get a seat among the six on a future mission of New Shepard, Blue Origin's reusable suborbital rocket that will fly out of West Texas. Recently, Gopichand Thotakura made history as the second Indian to go to space.

New Shepard will fly the selected astronauts on an 11-minute journey past the Kármán line (100 km), the internationally recognized boundary of space. Astronauts will experience several minutes of weightlessness before making a controlled descent back to the landing pad.

"We're excited to have India as part of our human spaceflight program. India has achieved remarkable milestones in its space journey in the past few years, including becoming the first country to reach the Moon's southern pole. We want to make space accessible for everyone and are happy to offer this unique opportunity to an Indian citizen who wants to experience the wonders of space travel," said Joshua Skurla, Co-Founder, SERA. PROPERTY TAX HIKE NEXT ON AGENDA TO MOP UP FUNDS

BBMP has collected Rs 1,654.47 cr tax this yr

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

AFTER hiking the rates of fuel and liquor, the State government is once again discussing a hike in property taxes in Bengaluru.

Bengaluru is one of the prime revenue generators for the state and there are around 18 lakh properties in the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike's (BBMP) ambit. As per BBMP records, as on July 1, the corporation has collected Rs 1654.47 crore as property tax in this financial year. In FY 2023-24, the corporation had collected Rs 2293.81 crore.

A BBMP revenue official explained that the government had extended 5 per cent rebate on tax payment till July, with Lok Sabha elections scheduled from April to June. While this is the reason why the amount collected so far is less, the financial year has just started, and penalties will soon be imposed and push up collection.

It may be recollected that Bengaluru in-charge minister and Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar had also spoken of hiking property tax, but it was put on hold for elections.

BBMP sources said that discussions on hiking property tax have resumed, but the quantum to be hiked is not yet decided. Initially, the proposal was to hike tax by 5 per cent annually, but was put on hold. "Discussions have started. The existing format of collection, based on zones (A-E) will continue. This is being discussed along with bifurcation of BBMP for better administration and tax collection," the source said.

Former BBMP corporators said that so far, the matter is still under discussion. The government is also discussing increasing the number of properties under its ambit to 20 lakh. Surveys for this are ongoing. "Calculations are still being done. They will be sent to the government for consideration and final decision," the source added.

The average number of registered letters received and dispatched per day at the RMS is 45,914. Unregistered items like Postcard, inland letters received and dispatched were 1,60,677 while parcels received and despatched were 17,376.

Rail Mail Services shuts shop after 40 yrs

S LALITHA @ Bengaluru

THE Rail Mail Service (RMS), which was launched in 1984, on the premises of the KSR Bengaluru City railway station, shut shop this weekend.

Its operations have now been split and relocated to three offices in Bengaluru Postal Division.

Soaring rents to be paid for this prime location and a significant quantity of mail being despatched via air and road are the major reasons for the Postal department to vacate the RMS Building, an iconic white building dotted with white letterings on multiple red boards, at the main entry of the station.

It was on May 23, 1984 that the then Minister of State for Communications VN Gadgil inaugurated the building in the presence of the Minister of State for Railways CK Jaffer Sharief.

"We have ample space in our offices spread across Bengaluru. Hence, we decided to shift all the parcels to our Peenya centre, the registered and Speed Post articles to the basement of GPO and the unregistered letters and items to our Mysore Road office. We have reworked our scheduling so that the parcels can be brought by vehicles and loaded onto the trains," revealed a source from the department.

Postal department pays a whopping Rs 39 lakh monthly rent to the Bengaluru Railway Division. "The rents have gradually risen annually, and we got to know it could touch upto Rs 49 lakh. This is a huge burden for us, so we decided to shift the operations," said another source.

The Commercial Department of Railways confirmed that the RMS was moving out of the railway station premises, but did not elaborate on the specifics of the rent.

A small space to house the Transit Mail Office would be taken. "This is to house the mail bags that are to be despatched, and would be far more economical," the source said. "The sorting of mail to be sent or received can be done anywhere in the city," he added.

Sub-standard drains at Bellandur, AAP urges BBMP not to clear bills

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

MEMBERS of AAP have alleged that, just a year after completing the works on drainage columns at Bellandur ward, the columns has come off and the aggregates can be pulled bare handed. They demanded a probe into the works, and also told that the BBMP should not release any bills in this regard.

AAP president of Mahadevapura Assembly, Ashok Mruthyunjaya said that based on public complaints regarding the shoddy work done at Bellandur ward, he and his volunteers inspected a drain stretch near Sakra World Hospital and found that the most of the blocks covered along the drain has fallen due weak columns.

"The aggregators can be easily pulled with bare hands. These were not checked when the contractors were working on the project, and now in the name of repair, bills will be raised again," he alleged and said that the BBMP should not clear these bills, and order a probe into shoddy works like these.

The palike can hand over the investigation to Lokayukta if they are not capable, he added.

The activist also alleged that the BBMP is yet to reclaim drains encroached in many parts of Mahadevpura, which combined with faulty drain work could lead to floods.

A senior engineer from BBMP said the allegations are baseless. "Only a few curb stones have fallen next to the drain," he added.

CHILD SEEKS URGENT FUNDS FOR RARE TREATMENT

A two-year-old boy has been battling Spinal Muscular Atrophy (SMA) type 2, a rare condition that requires gene therapy with Zolgensma. While waiting for this treatment, which costs Rs 16 crore, the child needs Risdiplam, costing about Rs 48,00,000 per year, as well as a BIPAP support machine priced at Rs 50,000 and a cough assist device costing Rs 3,00,000. SMA gradually deteriorates nerves and muscles, significantly impacting functions, such as breathing, swallowing, and basic movements, ultimately proving fatal. The parents of the child have appealed for financial assistance from the public, as they have received confirmation through a foundation that they can procure the medication at a reduced price of Rs 8.5-9 crore, provided they can raise the amount within the next 3-4 months. Signalling tests begin on Yellow Line

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Dynamic signalling tests for the first driverless train began between RV Road and Bommasandra (Yellow line) on Monday, said a senior BMRCL official. Preliminary activities in this connection were on since June 13. "As planned earlier, we began the Dynamic Signalling tests at 3 pm today. It requires a series of tests to be completed and will take around 2.5 months," he said.

Detailed data-checking needs to be done which will take upto 45 days. "This will be followed by Integration Test which takes around 15 days. Multiple train tests involving running of trains in opposite directions on each of the tracks will take another 10 days," he explained.

A scheduled running test could take a week and an independent safety assessment by a third party could take another ten days, the official elaborated. The line is expected to open for commercial operations by December 2024.

'Save Bannerghatta' petition gets over 16k signatures

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

A petition started by environmental activists to save Bannerghatta - 'Save Bannerghatta: Halt Proposed 6-lane Flyover', - has garnered as many as 16,606 signatures. The petition was filed on an online portal - Jhatkaa - an organisation committed to building grassroots citizen power across India.

The petition was filed against the proposed 6-lane flyover inside the Bannerghatta National Park, as part of the Satellite Township Ring Road (STRR) on the 3.85 km stretch of the existing road connecting Bannerghatta and Jigani Road, and aims to get atleast 50,000 signatures. Around 1,288 trees need to be cut for the project. This raises significant environmental and wildlife conservation concerns, and prompted the activists to urge the Forest Advisory Committee (FAC) to withhold the clearance for the NHAI project.

"The project has clearance from the National Board of Wildlife (NBWL) and involves the diversion of 27 acres 18 guntas of the core area and 14 acres in the buffer zone of the park. The proposed flyover, while aiming to address traffic concerns, could pose a threat to the delicate ecosystem, and disrupt the natural habitat of the wildlife," the petition said.

The national park is a crucial biodiversity hotspot which is home to endangered species like Asian Elephants, Indian Gaur, Sambar Deer and serves as a vital green lung for the region. The proposed flyover, if not carefully planned and executed, could damage this ecosystem irreversibly, contributing to biodiversity loss and environmental degradation," the petition read.

Tree transplanting awareness yields results, residents move 5 trees in RR Nagar

Bengaluru: Years of awareness on tree transplantation by the forest department, BBMP and activists, have started to see results as RR Nagar residents, with the help of activists and BBMP forest department, transplanted five fully grown trees. Two Peepal trees, one country fig tree, one Neem tree and one Pongamia tree (Honge mara), have been transplanted from Poorna Pragna Layout to RR Nagar. Urban Conservationist Vijay Nishant said, the High Court directions have been followed, and all the protocols were considered. The process of transplanting the 25-year-old trees took two days, and safely transplanted. According to reports, some residents approached the BBMP Forest Department seeking the department's guidance, as they were finding it tough to construct temple and houses in the locality.

Prayaas scheme for BMTC employees for hassle-free pension payment

Bengaluru: From now on, BMTC employees can receive their pension payment orders upon completing 58 years, without any hassle under the Prayaas scheme, at Malleswaram PFO. Transport Minister Ramalinga Reddy issued order letters for pension facilities to BMTC employees. The scheme simplified the pension process for the employees, otherwise, the employees had to run around the Regional PFO with several documents for months. Transfers between departments also caused delay in the process, for at least up to a year, due to missing Annexure-K documents. The Prayaas scheme addresses these concerns of the employees. The scheme ensures necessary documents are consolidated and submitted in advance, for smooth flow of processes.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
It should be a morning for hard work, but by the afternoon, partnership and matrimonial affairs will be rising up the scale of importance. There's a financial time-bomb ticking away, and this is where help will soon be needed. Start by balancing the books.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
Your greatest quality right now is your poetic charm. If you are tempted in any way to go for revenge, please realise that there is a great deal of water to flow under the bridge before you truly understand what other people have done. Bide your time for a little while longer.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
Take things one step at a time today, accepting the old truth that houses built on firm foundations last so much longer than those built on sand. Don't be distracted by rumours and half-truths. Mercury's mixed relationships suggest that it's all a matter of getting the facts straight.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
This is an excellent moment for all who are making suggestions, putting forward proposals and attending interviews. Your point of view should be more balanced than others', but you'll retain your characteristic enthusiasm and ability to inspire reluctant partners.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
Tie up all financial loose ends today, even if it's only a question of deciding whether one minor purchase is a better buy than another. If you clear up such trivial cares now, you'll have time for rather more important matters in a few days' time.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
Travel and adventurous plans should be given a high priority if you are willing to benefit from this week's passing opportunities. The fact is that you need a shot of excitement if you are to make the most of your current potential, and you will begin to resent any unfair constraints on your freedom.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Spend a little time by yourself, mulling over the past and plotting the future. Understand that day-dreams are a very useful way of processing unconscious feelings and moving towards a position where your visions of the future become reality.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
As the hours pass, the chances of a fresh mystery become stronger. It may be a matter of a lost possession or a missed appointment, but the positive side for you in all this is that you may be able to duck out of a particular commitment. You never know - other people might be as relieved as you are!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
You may spend a little time considering your own professional and worldly ambitions, but as the day goes on, you will have to consider partners' interests as well. Give yourself over to social pleasures later on and remember - there's nothing wrong with a little escapism!

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
When it comes to love, you will be struggling to free yourself from pressures imposed by family, society and other external forces. Find a way to reconcile your own desires with what is expected of you. It may be that you can please other people and get your way.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
Take the opportunity to check up on all finances, especially joint commitments and connections with other people. This looks like an ideal time to accept new domestic duties, but also to settle any outstanding debts. Oh, and the time is coming when you'll be able to tell someone else how you feel about them.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
You may listen to what partners or colleagues want, but remember that ultimately it's your money which counts. You should call the shots accordingly, and make sure that you're not left paying for other people. Put yourself first, for a change, and let others wait their turn.

KSR RLY STN TO GET OVER ₹1K-CR MAKEOVER

Food courts, multi-level car park facility, skywalk to Metro stn in the offing

S LALITHA @ Bengaluru

A detailed Master Plan is being finalised for the KSR Bengaluru City railway station that is set to have a massive facelift at a cost of over Rs 1,000 crore. An aspect that will offer much relief for passengers is the proposed skywalk in front of the main entry of the railway station that will connect with the station with the Kempegowda Metro Station.

The Rail Land Development Authority (RLDA) has been entrusted with the task of executing the project.

The station has an average of 1.75 lakh footfalls daily.

"The project will transform the station completely. It will be implemented in phases. A portion will be demolished and rebuilt and then another in order to ensure the public will not be inconvenienced," Bengaluru Divisional Railway Manager Yogesh Mohan said. The second entry (Platform No 5) is set to be refurbished completely, he said, adding that a multi-level car parking facility will also come up there.

A new aspect will be the wide air concourse that will connect the two ends of the station above the railway tracks, the DRM said. "The concourse will connect all the platforms of the railway station in one stretch," he added.

A senior railway official said that the concourse will run to a width of over 100 metres and will have all amenities.

Other amenities

Regarding other passenger amenities, the official said that the capacity of the waiting hall will be increased in a big way. "Three waiting halls will come up across the station so that public do not have to walk to specific points to access them. There will be much lengthier pick up and drop off points in front of the station. Basement parking, too, will be introduced near the main entry so that more vehicles can be accommodated," the official added.

Many food courts will be also opened. "The KSR Railway Station will be connected with a skywalk in future with the station of the upcoming Suburban Rail Project," he added.

A proposal to revamp the entry from the MG Railway Colony side so that public can easily enter the station from the 10th platform side is also being considered.

Additional Divisional Railway Manager (Operations), Parikshit Mohanpuria, said the implementation of the Master Plan will cost over Rs 1,000 crore. "The exact cost has not yet been finalised. We will have four floors running to 62,296 sqm. They will be opened for offices, shops and other commercial establishments."

RLDA sought more time to respond to a detailed questionnaire sent to them.

CM Siddaramaiah awards doctors for selfless service, during National Doctors' Day celebrations, at Vidhana Soudha on Monday | NAGARAJA GADEKAL

Work with social responsibility, docs told

ENS @ Bengaluru

NATIONAL Doctors' Day, observed annually on July 1, was celebrated at Vidhana Soudha to commemorate the contributions of renowned physician Dr Bidhan Chandra Roy. The event was inaugurated in the presence of Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and other senior dignitaries, including Health Minister Dinesh Gundu Rao, on Monday.

During the inauguration, Chief Minister Siddaramaiah urged doctors to work with a stronger sense of social responsibility, to adhere strictly to their professional duties, and said a doctor's role can be life-saving and, therefore, godly.

He cautioned doctors against the dangers of smoking and other harmful habits, sharing his personal experience of undergoing angioplasty due to smoking, and emphasised that a healthy lifestyle and diet changes prevent diseases and maintain health.

Addressing the dengue outbreak, Siddaramaiah mentioned that a review meeting was held to address the issue, and urged the public to cooperate with the government to eradicate the disease.

Minister Dinesh Gundu Rao said the government is committed to providing necessary facilities to doctors, and urged them to focus on providing quality healthcare and continue the legacy of BC Roy.

Missing cop found dead in Jnanabharathi

ENS @ Bengaluru

A police constable attached to the Madiwala police station, who went missing since June 25, was found dead in an open well in the Jnanabharathi campus.

The victim has been identified as Shivaraj. His body was found on Monday in Jnanabharathi police station limits. After the constable went missing, his brother filed a missing complaint at the Subramanyapura police station. The family was staying in the area.

Shivaraj had married just 50 days ago. On June 25, he left home for work. After sometime, his mobile phone was found to be switched off. The victim was a native of Devadurga in Raichur, and a 2020 batch police constable.

It is learnt that Shivaraj was upset over a family matter. A relative had reportedly filed a dowry harassment complaint against him at a police station in Davanagere. The complainant had also posted something against Shivaraj on social media. Disturbed, he is suspected to have ended his life. The body has been shifted to the Victoria Hospital's mortuary for postmortem.

Set up academy for lawyers: SC judge

ENS @Bengaluru

SUPREME Court Judge Justice Aravind Kumar called upon all stakeholders to join hands to set up a Karnataka advocates' academy on the lines of the Karnataka Judicial Academy established in 1999, to train young advocates on various laws, including the three new enactments that came into effect from July 1.

He was speaking after inaugurating a month-long workshop being organised by the Advocates' Association of Bengaluru (AAB) in association with the Karnataka Judicial Academy on the three new enactments - Bharatiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita-2023, Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita-2023 and Bharatiya Sakshya Adhiniyam-2023, at the High Court on Monday.

He also released the 'New Criminal Manual', authored by advocates Siddharth HM and Manjunath B. Justice Kumar said the Advocates' Association of Bengaluru and the Karnataka Judicial Academy are the first in the country to organise a workshop on the three new laws on the day of their enactment itself. He further said there is a judicial academy to train judges.

Stating that the three new laws were brought in tune with the requirements in the digital era, Justice Kumar said now there is a provision in the Bharatiya Naagarika Suraksha Samhite to register the First Information Report (FIR) in any part of the country that can later be transferred to the jurisdictional police station for investigation.

Chief Justice of Karnataka High Court N V Anjaria also spoke.

Influencer displays fake AK-47, held

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

A 25-year-old influencer, who posted a video on social media with his bodyguards carrying fake AK-47 assault rifles in a luxury car in public, was arrested by the Kothanur police on Friday.

The accused has been identified as Arun Kathare, a resident of JP Nagar, who originally hails from Chitradurga.

The police said they have filed a suo motu case against Kathare based on a social media post, where his bodyguards are seen carrying the fake firearms. Their act created panic in the public, who also complained about it. Meanwhile, Kathare was booked under Sections 25 (Arms Act) and 290 (Public Nuisance) of the IPC. Police said he makes and posts reels on Instagram and stays with his friends in a rented house in JP Nagar.

Kathare can be seen on social media wearing fake big gold jewellery, driving around in a luxury car, with bodyguards. It is said that Kathare went to jail in 2023 in Chitradurga, for allegedly threatening and extorting an SSLC student. Kathare allegedly took pictures of the boy, holding a cigarette and some liquor. He threatened the boy that he would reveal the pictures to his parents, if he wasn't paid. A cheating case was also registered against him last year. Kathare is out on bail in both the cases.

Spooky! Buried girl's body found hanging from tree

KALABURAGI: A curious case of the body of a one-and-half-year-old girl that was buried on Saturday night surfacing in a cradle made up of clothes and hanging from a tree was reported from Manthala village of Basavakalyan taluk in Bidar district. The girl, daughter of Ambaiah Swami -- a resident of Manthala village, died due to health complications on Saturday evening. The body was buried around midnight. On Sunday morning, the girl's relatives were told that the body was in a cloth cradle and hanging from a tree. They rushed to the spot, brought the body down and buried it again. While some believe that it could be the handiwork of black magicians, others think that thieves might have exhumed the body to steal jewellery. Bidar SP Chennabasavanna said the incident is being probed.

Karnataka sees spike in chikungunya cases

BENGALURU: Chikungunya cases are on the rise, with the state reporting 30,186 suspected cases since January. Of these, 566 have been reported in BBMP limits, 358 in Bengaluru Urban and 73 in Bengaluru Rural. Doctors said although the number of cases are increasing daily, the patient load this year for both dengue and chikungunya is manageable.

Fake news dangerous, fact-check units in all dists to tackle it: CM

In budget, Siddu announced spl cell to act against those who spread misinformation

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

THE Karnataka government has constituted special fact-check units in all districts to combat fake news and misinformation, especially on social media, Chief Minister Siddaramaiah said on Monday.

Siddaramaiah was speaking at the Press Day organised by the Press Club of Bangalore in association with the Information Department.

The CM pointed out that the entire society, especially the media, should be more careful about checking and tackling fake news. Calling the spread of fake news through social media dangerous, the CM said society should be very careful about fake news. The press and media organisations should think about this seriously, he said. Siddaramaiah said that special units have been established in every district to keep a close watch on fake news. "Fact-check units have been activated in all districts to detect, control and take action on fake news," the CM added.

Siddaramaiah, in his budget earlier this year that, an Information Disorder Tackling Unit (IDTU) will be formed in collaboration with the Department of Information Technology and Biotechnology, to combat fake news.

The IDTU, known as the fact-checking unit, consists of a fact-checking team, an analytic team, and a capacity-building team. Siddaramaiah had stated that the proposed unit will take stringent action against those who create insecurity and fear in society by spreading fake news. A special cell will be formed in the Home Department to take the required legal action against them, Siddaramaiah said.

Poll show: Cong sets up fact-finding panel

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

DEPUTY Chief Minister and Karnataka Pradesh Congress Committee (KPCC) president DK Shivakumar has said that a fact-finding committee will be constituted to analyse the Congress' performance in the recent Lok Sabha elections in the state.

Addressing the media on Monday after a meeting with KPCC office-bearers, the Deputy Chief Minister said, "Congress' performance in the General Elections has not been up to our expectations except in Kalyana Karnataka. We expected to win more than 15 seats. The fact-finding committee will find out what went wrong. The committee will analyse every Assembly constituency and submit a report."

Shivakumar said four region-wise meetings will also be under the leadership of Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and himself to review the party's performance.

The AICC fact-finding committee will visit all states, and the state team will submit a report to them, he said.

Meanwhile, Shivakumar sent out a strong message to Congress leaders and members in the state that the party is supreme. This comes at a time when there is a growing demand to have more deputy chief ministers in the state.

Apart from the office-bearers meeting, Shivakumar also met All-India Congress Committee (AICC) president Mallikarjun Kharge in New Delhi on Sunday. "I do not support public debates on party's internal matters. Action will be taken against those who violate party guidelines," Shivakumar warned.

The DyCM said that the ministers will be asked to meet party workers every fortnight at the district headquarters and once a month in the KPCC head office in Bengaluru.

He also warned that, besides taking disciplinary action against those who debate party matters in public, office-bearers who skip three or more meetings will be shown the door. On Monday, close to 45 of the 190 KPCC general secretaries gave the meeting a miss, which irked Shivakumar, informed sources said.

The DyCM further said that three panels have been formed to face the bypolls in three Assembly constituencies — Sandur, Channapatna and Shiggaon.

Meanwhile, speaking to reporters in Bengaluru, Chief Minister Siddaramaiah said they will not publicly talk about the issue of having more Deputy Chief Ministers and abide by the party high command's decision.

Monsoon session from July 15

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Monsoon session of the Karnataka legislature will be held from July 15 to July 26.

The State Cabinet on Thursday authorised Chief Minister Siddaramaiah to decide the dates for the session.

During the session, the Opposition BJP is likely to take up price rise and corruption as the major issues to corner the Congress Government. While prices of petrol, diesel, and milk have been increased, the BJP is demanding Chief Minister Siddaramaiah's resignation over the alleged financial irregularities in the Karnataka Maharshi Valmiki Scheduled Tribes Development Corporation Limited, a state government undertaking.

The alleged irregularities in the ST Corporation came to light after an official working at its head office in Bengaluru committed suicide. A minister in the Siddaramaiah cabinet had to resign and the top officials at the corporation were arrested by the Special Investigation Team formed to probe the scam.

Centre must share taxes fairly with states: Siddu

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister Siddaramaiah on Monday said the Centre should share taxes appropriately and proportionately with the states. The states that collect higher taxes must be given a higher share, he demanded.

Inaugurating the GST Day programme organised by the Commercial Taxes Department here, he said, "GST is an indirect tax and before it was introduced, the state government collected Value-Added Tax (VAT). There is an outcry now as states are not getting their fair share of taxes from the Centre."

He said, "The 16th Finance Commission is being constituted now. We have tried to bring the anomaly in allocation to the attention of the Central government, parliamentarians and the Prime Minister. Under the 15th Finance Commission, the tax share for the state government was reduced by 1.7 per cent. The development of the state is possible if more tax is allocated."

It can be understood from many inscriptions that the tax system has been in use for centuries, even before elected governments came into the picture. "Inscriptions show that the Kadambas introduced the sales tax in Karnataka. Every government collects taxes. The Constitution empowers Central and state governments to levy taxes," he added.

The state government needs Rs 60,000 crore for the five guarantee schemes. "If inequality in society is to be eliminated, everyone must be economically and socially empowered. A special programme is being introduced to empower economically weaker sections. If the poor from all religions and castes have to be empowered, there must be resources," he said.

The Commercial Taxes Department collected Rs 1,22,821 crore in 2022-23 and Rs 1,45,266 crore in 2023-24, he said, and appreciated the efforts of the department staff.

MLC Suraj's police custody extended

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE 42nd Additional Chief Metropolitan Magistrate (ACMM) court on Monday extended the police custody of JDS MLC Dr Suraj Revanna for two more days. He was arrested in a sodomy case filed against him by a JDS male party worker. Suraj was produced before the special court for trial of cases against sitting and former MPs/MLAs, after his eight days of police custody ended on Monday. Judge KN Shivakumar remanded Suraj to two days of police custody.

During the hearing, the CID sought five days of police custody citing that Suraj was not cooperating with the investigation. A 27-year-old male JDS worker filed a complaint at Holenarsipura Rural police station on June 22, accusing Suraj of sexually assaulting him.

Devaraje Gowda gets bail

Bengaluru: The Karnataka High Court on Monday granted bail to advocate and BJP leader G Devaraje Gowda in connection with a case of sexual assault. Justice MG Uma allowed his bail petition with conditions. He approached the high court after his bail plea was rejected by the trial court in Hassan district on June 5, in connection with a crime registered with Holenarasipur police station. He was arrested on May 10, 2024, and remanded in judicial custody on May 17. Initially, on April 1, 2024, the case was registered against him under provisions of Section 354(A), 354(C), 448, 504, 506 and 34 of IPC and Section 66(E) of the Information Technology Act. Later, investigators sought permission from the magistrate to invoke Sections 354(D) and 376(1) IPC to investigate and submit a report.

Nagaraj fought 2013 election from Koppal

THE probe revealed that Nagaraj directly took part in the transfer of money to various accounts by interfering in the affairs of the corporation, claiming that he is a close aide and relative of the minister and benefitted from the transferred money, though he had no role in the corporation.

Nagaraj, who is presently claiming to be a BJP worker, had contested from the Koppal Assembly constituency in 2013 from the BSR party and was unsuccessful.

Bail rejected

Rejecting Nagaraj's bail, Judge Yashawanth Kumar, LI Additional City Civil and Sessions Court, observed that the objections of the public prosecutor and the report of the investigating officer show that Nagaraj is required for the investigation. Huge public money has been allegedly misappropriated. Admittedly he is an associate of a minister and an activist of a political party, therefore a powerful and influential person. The investigation is at a preliminary stage, and if the petitioner is granted bail now, there is the likelihood of threatening the prosecution witnesses and tampering with evidence. There is a chance of fleeing from justice and he may not be available for investigation of the case, he said.

Job quota: Kannada forums protest, set one-month deadline

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

VARIOUS Kannada organisations staged protests across the state on Monday, demanding job reservation in the private sector for Kannadigas.

Speaking to the media after meeting Chief Minister Siddaramaiah, Karnataka Rakshane Vedike (KRV) president Narayana Gowda said that the former has assured them of implementing the recommendations of the Sarojini Mahishi report providing job reservations to Kannadigas in the private sector, and will soon call for a meeting with legal experts to take the matter to its logical conclusion.

KRV and other Kannada organisations took out a rally in Bengaluru.

"The CM told us that he is not going to compromise on Kannada. He said that his government is pro-Kannada. He responded positively to our demand," Gowda said.

The KRV leader said there has been a demand to implement the Sarojini Mahishi recommendations for the last four decades to provide 100% job reservation for C and D cadres in the private sector and 80% for A and B cadres. "The report also specifies that those who have resided in Karnataka for the last 15 years should be given tests in Kannada, and if they pass the exams, they can be given a job." We have explained the same to the CM," he added.

Earlier in the day, Gowda, who took part in the protest, warned the police that if they tried to stop them, their protest would turn violent.

"We have called for a peaceful protest. We have given one month's time to the State Government to implement the Sarojini Mahishi report. If they fail to do so, then our protest will turn violent," he said.

The agitators suggested to the government that the licenses of companies that do not follow the reservation rules be cancelled and land and other benefits granted to them be withdrawn.

Reacting to this, Karnataka Home Minister Dr G Parameshwara said that the government does not have any issue with peaceful protests, and that one should not take the law into their own hands.

Several Sandalwood actors, including Prem and Pooja Gandhi, extended support for the protest.

Too early to comment on its effect, says Dr G

ENS@ Bengaluru

HOME Minister Dr G Parameshwara said that it is too early to comment on the effect of the three new laws that came into force across the country on Monday. Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita, Bharatiya Nagrik Suraksha Sanhita, and the Bharatiya Sakshya Adhiniyam replaced IPC, CrPC, and the Indian Evidence Act.

He said the new laws will be applicable to the cases registered from Monday and the success or failure of the new laws cannot be known immediately. After the cases are registered, it should be seen how they will be taken in the court, he said.

Dr Parameshwara said since the new laws are implemented in the entire country, response has to come from different places and the Union Government can make some revisions. He said staff of the department have been trained about the new laws and a new mobile application has been prepared for the police.

Transfers

Dr Parameshwara said rules are being framed for inter-district transfer of constables and the issue of inter-district transfers will be resolved soon.

The government will not support any wrong doings and action will be taken according to the law against those who committed any crime, he said. He was responding to a question about why the interest shown in probing a murder case involving actor Darshan is not seen in probing alleged financial irregularities in ST Corporation.

NEW LAWS

'Undemocratic... K'taka to bring in amendments'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

WITH the Indian Code of Justice, Indian Civil Defence Code and Indian Evidence Act coming into force on Monday, the Karnataka government has initiated a rethink on the new laws.

Law Minister HK Patil, who had headed an expert committee that studied these new laws, said, "The Union government has completely failed to uphold the integrity of the laws, Indian values and certain historical clauses. The law department formed an expert committee and submitted a detailed report to the Centre but it did not respond to most of the suggestions sent by the state government, and has implemented the draft as it is. The State government is not only opposing these three legislations but is also seriously considering several amendments within its jurisdiction, by exercising its powers conferred in Schedule III of Article 7 of the Constitution."

The government is rethinking the new laws as the Centre has radically changed important mother laws in a parliamentary setup, Patil said.

"It has committed a serious legal lapse by setting aside democratic traditions and deciding the date of implementation of the laws in the previous cabinet, a few days before elections were announced. With a new government at the Centre, there should be a discussion on whether the new laws should be implemented, and should come into effect on the date decided by the previous government," the minister added.

Terming as unfortunate that the Centre did not accept the state government's suggestions, he said, "The Central government should take serious note of the letter sent by the Chief Minister. These laws should be amended and till then, we demand that implementation be put on hold."

Giving an example, Patil said, "Fasting was an effective weapon in the freedom struggle, but is now being criminalized as an attempt to commit suicide. This is to suppress democratic protests. We will bring in an amendment to prevent any attempt to suppress protest."

He said that some laws are vague. "While a new term 'organised crime' has been added, its definition is vague and absurd. It has given unilateral and discretionary powers to investigating agencies to prosecute individuals based on vague interpretations. New terminologies are used for land grabbing, contract killing, cyber crimes etc, but are not meaningfully defined anywhere in the new Act."

The new Indian Citizens' Protection Code provides for police custody of up to 90 days. "This is a violation of human rights. It will be amended to reduce it to the shortest time, and to give courts the power to seize the property of the accused in a criminal case, which needs to be changed."

SIDDU SEEKING CENTRE'S NOD FOR KALASA-BANDURI IRKS GOANS

Greens, oppn want Goa govt to stop Centre from giving go-head

NAUSHAD BIJAPUR @Belagavi

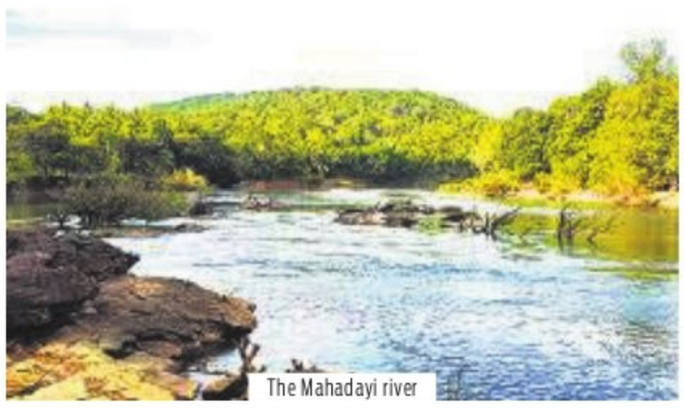
CHIEF Minister Siddaramaiah's request to Prime Minister Narendra Modi in New Delhi on Sunday for the Centre's green signal to implement the Kalasa-Banduri project has not gone down well with opposition parties and environmentalists in BJP-ruled Goa.

While claiming that the project poses threat to wildlife and environment, opposition parties in Goa have appealed to their government to put pressure on the PM not to allow Karnataka to go ahead with the project till the case pertaining to it is resolved in the Supreme Court.

After his meeting with the PM, Siddaramaiah took to X, saying that he urged the PM to direct the Ministry of Environment, Forest and Climate Change to accord the needed environment and forest clearances to the state as the implementation of the project (by diverting water from Goa's Mandovi river), a dream for people of Kittur-Karnataka region, would help tide over the water crisis in the region.

Opposition parties in Goa said the BJP and Goa government, which had pledged to protect Mahadayi, the lifeline of Goans, should demonstrate their commitment to the region by exerting pressure on the Centre to halt Karnataka from going ahead with the project.

On his X handle, Leader of Opposition Yuri Alemao hit out at the Goa government and said, "Karnataka Congress government led by CM Siddaramaiah meets Modi demanding clearance to Kalasa-Banduri project. Surprisingly, Goa CM Pramod Sawant is not getting an appointment to take an all-party delegation to meet the PM to demand withdrawal of approval of DPR for Kalasa-Bandura project."



The Mahadayi river

He said the Goa government miserably failed to protect the larger interests of Goans.

Environmentalists from the 'Save Mahadayi Save Goa' forum have condemned the request made by Siddaramaiah seeking approval for the project even before the case is disposed of by the Supreme Court. They said it was time for the Goa government to protect the Mahadayi river. The greens appealed to the Goa CM to meet the PM immediately to prevail upon him not to give nod to the project.

The Goa unit of the Aam Aadmi Party has said it was committed to protecting Mahadayi river and would fight to stop its diversion. The party blamed the Goa government for failing to protect the interest of Goans and said the government should take up the legal battle to save Mahadayi in the court seriously.

In its final award on August 14, 2018, the Mahadayi Water Dispute Tribunal (MWDT) awarded 13.42 tmcft of water to Karnataka under the Mahadayi project. The tribunal allowed Karnataka to share 5.5 tmcft of water from Mahadayi river for drinking purpose and another 8.02 per cent of water for hydro electricity generation.

However, Karnataka was involved in a long-stretched battle with neighbouring Goa for its share of 36.55 tmcft of water under Mahadayi project, including 7.56 tmcft for drinking water purposes. According to sources, of the 5.5 tmcft of water allotted for drinking to Karnataka, 3.80 tmcft will be diverted to Malaprabha basin through the Kalasa Nala (1.18 tmcft) and Banduri Nala (2.72 tmc) while 1.50 tmcft is allotted for in-basin consumption in Khanapur region.

47% of urban families conned financially

RISHITA KHANNA @ Bengaluru

A recent survey has revealed that 47 per cent of urban Indian families have experienced some type of financial fraud, with 53 per cent reporting that they or someone in their immediate family have been a victim in the past five years.

The survey, conducted via LocalCircles platform, gathered over 48,000 responses from citizens across 367 districts and found that six in 10 Indians do not report financial frauds to regulators or law enforcement agencies when the value is under Rs 1,000, so 90 per cent remains unreported.

The survey identified credit/debit card and UPI fraud, buying or selling classified site users, and bank account fraud as the top types of financial cheating experienced by families.

The findings highlighted that 17 per cent of citizens admitted to storing important passwords (ATM, debit/credit cards, bank accounts, app/play store) on their mobile devices, making them highly vulnerable to data theft. In terms of password storage, about 34 per cent of citizens admitted to sharing important passwords with someone else, typically a family member.

On storing of important passwords, 9 per cent of respondents indicated that they store passwords in mobile phone notes, 4 per cent in mobile phone contact list, 4 per cent in a password app on the phone, and 4 per cent in any other app. Additionally, 5 per cent keep them in their wallet or purse, 14 per cent have them memorised, and 16 per cent store them on their computer.

The survey also found that Aadhaar card, PAN card and driving licence are the top three identities shared by citizens for various applications, proofs, bookings and stays over the past five years. It was found that 97 per cent of respondents had submitted their Aadhaar card, 68 per cent their PAN card, and 38 per cent their driving licence for various purposes.

The report further revealed concerning data from the Reserve Bank of India in May, indicating that bank frauds increased by 300 per cent, and digital frauds by 708 per cent in the last two years. The survey underscores the need for better financial data storage practices and increased awareness to combat the growing threat of financial fraud in India.

Mujahids, Sunnis in war of words over women's education

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Kozhikode

EDUCATION for women has once again become a topic of heated debate in the Muslim community in Kerala with the Mujahids asking the Sunnis to tender an apology to women for "obstructing their right to education for over a century".

The issue was reignited with the speech of Samastha Kerala Jem-Iyyathul Ulama president Syed Muhammad Jiffiri Muthukoya Thangal on July 26, where he said his organisation was never against women's education. Thangal asserted that the Sunnis only insisted that girls' education should be "within the stipulated limits of the religion".

Reacting to the speech, Kerala Nadvathul Mujahideen (KNM) said Samastha should offer an apology for "obstructing women's education for over a century".

In a statement issued after the leaders' meeting on Sunday, KNM said the Samastha president's claim that the organisation did not stand in the way of women's education was against truth.

"Samastha should clarify whether it still upholds the resolution adopted at the Mannarkkad conference in 1930, which said women should not learn writing. If not, the organisation should tell the public that the resolution was a mistake," KNM said.

It added that it was the Muslim Aikya Sangam and its offshoots that taught the community the importance of education and those who ridiculed the Mujahid movement for over a century should do an introspection. KNM also asked the Sunnis to open the doors of the mosques for women to enable them to offer Friday juma prayers.

Samastha, however, reiterated that it never imposed a blanket ban on women's education but only suggested certain 'restrictions'. Sunni Yuvajana Sangam (SYS) state secretary Abdul Hameed Faizi Ambalakkadavu said no one who believes in moral values can find anything wrong in the suggestions.

"A souvenir published as part of the seventh Mujahid conference has quoted a fatwa by Salafi scholar Ibn Baz, who was asked whether women are permitted to study topics such as physics and chemistry. The answer was that women need not study such topics which are not suitable for them. The Mujahids should clarify whether they still uphold the fatwa of the Saudischolar," Ambalakkadavu said.

Solar park to come up in Madhugiri

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

TO scale up clean energy infrastructure and enhance energy security for the state, Energy Minister KJ George on Monday said a solar park on the lines of Pavagada will soon come up in Madhugiri taluk of Tumkuru district.

The park will come up in partnership with the central government's Tehri Hydro Development Corporation.

A release from the department said the partnership aims to leverage local expertise and resources to identify suitable land parcels essential for setting up the plant.

George was in Tumakuru on Monday to review the implementation of the KUSUM-C project at the district commissioner's office. Also present with him were Home Minister Dr G Parameshwara, Cooperation Minister KN Rajanna, State Government's Special Representative in Delhi T B Jayachandra, MLA K Shadakshari, Additional Chief Secretary (Energy Department) Gaurav Gupta, Managing Director of Bangalore Electricity Supply Corporation Limited (Bescom) Mahantesh Bilagi and Tumakuru District Collector Shubha Kalyan.

They also inaugurated two new power substations in Tumakuru district. These include a 2X8 MVA 66/11 KV substation in Bhairenahalli of Koratagere taluk, constructed at a cost of Rs 12.62 crore, and another 2X8 MVA, 66/11 KV substation in Sankenahalli (IK Colony), built at a cost of Rs 14.33 crore.

George also held a review meeting in the district to popularise the Pradhan Mantri Kisan Urja Suraksha Evam Utthaan Mahabhiyan (PM Kusum) scheme. George said, "To generate 1 MW electricity under the Kusum C project, 4-5 acres of land is needed. If government land is used, it will be provided free of cost and leased for 25 years. Lessees will pay Rs 25,000 per acre annually during the lease period. These funds will be deposited in the district collector's account and allocated to develop local anganwadis, schools and panchayats."

Gaurav Gupta said the government will select land around substations for the initiative. So far, 27 substations have been chosen, with an additional 12 to be selected in the next phase for Tumakuru district. Work has already begun in some substations, and surveys have been conducted, Gupta added.

Political influence by public servants on transfers, postings undesirable: K'taka HC

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

OBSERVING that the act of public servants bringing political influence for transfers and postings, is a matter of deprecation, the Karnataka High Court confirmed the punishment of compulsory retirement given to an employee of the Karnataka Food and Civil Supplies Corporation (KFCSC), who was on an unauthorised absence, after she was transferred despite leave sought on the grounds of allergy was rejected, as the medical certificate did not support her case.

"Nowadays, this court with a lot of penury at heart has been observing that employees invoke political influence in matters of transfer and posting, which essentially belongs to the exclusive domain of the employer/competent authority, who has to take a call after adverting to a host of factors. Political interference in service matters is undesirable to say the least, inasmuch as irrelevant factors would figure and that would affect public administration and the interest of the employer. There may be some exceptional cases where a citizen complains to the elected representatives, seeking minutes for favour, are a case apart," the court said.

A division bench of Justice Krishna S Dixit and Justice Ramachandra D Huddar passed the order while allowing the appeal filed by the KFCSC in 2016, against the order passed by a single judge in 2013 quashing the compulsory retirement of Veena M from Dakshina Kannada District as reaffirmed in the departmental appeal and directed to reinstate her in service without back wages and consequential benefits.

The KFCSC's counsel argued that an employee cannot refuse to work in the place of posting, merely because there was some health issues. The very conduct of the employee in bringing political influence through a particular Member of Parliament itself, disentitled her to the discretionary remedy. Despite direction to report for duty, she remained absent and that amounts to misconduct, and the medical report was not favourable to her claims, he argued.

INSTITUTE RELEASES PLAN ON SWINE FEVER

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

CITY-based Indian Council of Agricultural Research-National Institute of Veterinary Epidemiology and Disease Informatics (ICAR-NIVEDI) released the surveillance plan on classical swine fever (CSF) on the foundation day of the institute on July 1.

"CSF is endemic in India and is the most common disease affecting pigs. It is a highly contagious, dreadful disease affecting susceptible domestic and wild pigs, causing 100 per cent mortality in piglets and varying symptoms/signs in adult pigs depending upon age, breed and virulence of the virus," said Principal Scientist & PRO, ICAR-NIVEDI Sathish B Shivachandra.

"As per the 20th livestock census, India has 9.06 million pigs and out of these, 47 per cent are in the North East, where people are culturally and socially bound by household pig rearing. There is a reduction of 12.03pc in the pig population compared to the 19th livestock census," he added.

"India had started vaccinating pigs in a few NE states in 2014-15, depending on the availability of resources which got extended to other states during 2022. In order to make the control programme successful, continuous surveillance and sero monitoring of CSFV antibodies post vaccination in pig population is essential," said Shivachandra.

Principal scientists, NIVEDI, KP Suresh and SS Patil have developed a sampling statistically significant so that pigs vaccinated in the village/block of each state are represented for evaluation of CSF vaccination. A total of 36,000 pigs will be evaluated after vaccination to assess the effect of CSF vaccine in the field so that the diseases can be controlled and eradicated subsequently," said the scientist.

Meanwhile, Director, NIVEDI, BR Gulati spoke about the genesis of the institute, mandate and its activities during the Foundation Day function.

KARNATAKA POWER TRANSMISSION CORPORATION LIMITED

(CIN:U40109KA1999SGC025521)

No.: EE(E)/TL&SS/DBP/2024-25/578 Date: 28.06.2024

PUBLIC NOTICE

Karnataka Power Transmission Corporation (KPTCL) Limited is a Power Transmission Utility, wholly owned by Government of Karnataka. Under the guidelines of Central Electricity Authority, Government of India, KPTCL is Transmitting power under different Extra High voltage of 400KV, 220KV and 66KV.

The Transmission Lines coming under the jurisdiction of the undersigned is passing through the Geographical area in Doddaballapura Tq, Devanahalli Tq, Chikkaballapura Tq, Shidlaghatta Tq, Chinthamani Tq, Bagepalli Tq, Gudibande Tq, Gowribidanur Tq, Madhugiri Tq, Hosakote Tq, Bangalore North Tq and Bangalore Rural District.

The KPTCL has observed, that public are constructing Residential buildings, Industries, Commercial Establishments etc., in the corridor of the Transmission lines in the above mentioned Geographical areas. In some places, Residential buildings are constructed and residing underneath the Transmission Lines, which is endangerous to the life of public and their property. Due to this electrical accidents are occurring and are increasing day by day.

KPTCL does not encourage the construction of buildings, plantations, storing flammable materials under the EHT lines or involving and other activities near High Voltage lines. Awareness among the public is created by issuing notices and pamphlets. Despite, if accidents occur the owners/residents of those buildings are responsible and KPTCL will not be held responsible for the same.

Construction of buildings/temporary sheds close to electric towers or lying banners and buntings to the tower are extremely dangerous. Walking, flying kites and drying clothes or carrying out any kind of activity on top of buildings constructed close to or below Extra High Voltage lines is very dangerous as it will be close to induction zone of Extra High Voltage lines resulting in casualties or even death. Such accidents are frequently reported in many newspapers and in electronic media. In order to prevent such accidents, the owners/residents of such buildings should not carry out any activities under or in vicinity of such Extra High Voltage Lines.

As per Central Electricity Authority Regulations-2010 for Measures Relating to Safety and Electric Supply) construction of buildings below EHT lines is illegal. As mentioned in the Regulation , the minimum horizontal clearance between the building and EHT line to be maintained is as given below;

Clearance	66KV	220KV	400KV
Horizontal	2.3 Metres	3.8 Metres	5.6 Metres
Corridor clearance	18 Metres	35 Metres	46 Metres

As per C.E.A Regulations it is the responsibility of every citizen to maintain minimum Horizontal distance as mentioned above. In view of safety it is informed to clear such buildings that are built illegally. Otherwise the owners will be held responsible for any future accidents, interruption in power supply etc, and police complaint will be registered against the offenders and necessary action will be taken as per law.

This notification is issued in Public interest.

THE PROMISE OF NEW CRIMINAL LAWS UNDER TEST

WITH the three new criminal laws to revamp the justice delivery system coming into force, the police across the country have already started invoking them. The Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita, which replaced the Indian Penal Code, 1860, has fewer sections—358 as compared to the IPC's 511. Also, 21 new crimes have been introduced and the law has been given more teeth by extending the imprisonment awarded in 41 crimes, enhancing fines in 82, and prescribing minimum punishment in 25. The other two new laws are the Bharatiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita and the Bharatiya Sakshya Adhiniyam that replace the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 and the Indian Evidence Act, 1872. Among the positives in the BNS is the provision to file a 'zero FIR' at any police station irrespective of jurisdiction, online registration of complaints, eliminating harassment by letting people report crime electronically without visiting a police station, and mandatory video recording of the scenes of crimes considered heinous. One of the salient features of the new law is mandatory forensic investigation in cases punishable with seven years of imprisonment or more. But since the infrastructure and manpower are not available yet, the states have until June 2029 to build them. Specific timelines have been set for police action and the judiciary, enhancing their accountability.

As for cases booked before July 1, they will run concurrently under the old laws since the new laws cannot function retrospectively. However, procedural law could be considered for application depending on the case. Since the average span for a case getting finally decided—from a magistrate's court to the Supreme Court—is two to three decades, the judiciary will have to straddle two parallel systems of justice till then. The judiciary is already creaking under a huge backlog, with the Supreme Court itself having over 80,000 pending cases. Whether it would be able to manage the additional load is anybody's guess.

Wide consultations with all stakeholders preceded the revamp, but the bills failed to get enough parliament time for debate, though it went to a House committee for vetting. Some sections could come under judicial scrutiny, like those on police remand and replacing sedition with treason. On balance, if the laws end up making the justice delivery system faster, fairer and hassle-free, they would have made people's lives easier.

ODISHA GOVT NEEDS TO PICK UP PACE IN WORK

IN office for close to three weeks, the Mohan Charan Majhi government in Odisha appears to be in no particular hurry. It has set itself a 100-day mission, but the pace at which it has gone about it would require booster packs to reach the target. The saffron party's first administration in the state began with a flourish. Of the four agendas ratified at the first cabinet meeting, the reopening of the four gates of the Shree Jagannath temple was fulfilled within hours. It was followed by the announcement to provide a support price of ₹3,100 to paddy growers from the kharif season, although the decision would require financial reworking given the massive provisioning it warrants. All eyes would also be on the rollout of the much-hyped Subhadra Yojana, a scheme under which eligible women would get vouchers of ₹50,000 to be encashed within two years. Planned to be unveiled on September 17, this scheme could measure the Majhi government's administrative dexterity. The party's manoeuvring would also be tested in designing the scheme's beneficiary eligibility.

So far, the government's intent is on the right track, but the ground work ahead of it is considerable. Striking a fine balance between expectations and reality would require a core team that brings administrative experience to translate the lofty visions. Majhi has just finished picking his chief secretary and an officer to helm the chief minister's office, but a wider administrative overhaul is yet to take place. The first major challenge would be the budget, which would necessitate considerable work given the legacy issues of the previous dispensation and the mega promises made by the saffron party. Next in priority would be the smooth conduct of the Rath Yatra due in a few days. Beyond that, the government's real test will be on the promise of a Viksit Odisha that seeks to change the socio-economic landscape with a focus on infrastructure, employment, investment and priority sectors such as agriculture. For that, the government must move out of its celebratory mood and get down to work to overcome its clear lack of experience. It could take a cue from the way the N Chandrababu Naidu government has gone about business right from the word go, though both he and Majhi took oath the same day. Not to forget, the prime minister himself would be keenly watching the performance.

QUICK TAKE

ULTRA-TROUBLESOME FOOD

YET another large-cohort study has highlighted the dangers of consuming ultra-processed foods (UPFs). A three-decade study led by the US's National Cancer Institute shows higher consumption of such food can shorten lifespan by more than a tenth. Lacking essential nutrients but high in calories, UPFs increase the chances of cardiovascular disease and type 2 diabetes, ailments that have a high incidence in India. Meanwhile, the Indian UPF sector grew by more than an eighth a year during 2011-21. This May, while updating ICMR's diet guidelines, the National Institute of Nutrition sternly advised against UPFs. We need easy-to-understand labels on packaged UPFs with recommendations for daily consumption levels.

Planning organisations, especially those administering welfare schemes, need to be more connected to the poor. It is hoped this Budget would improve justice delivery to the marginalised

LOOKING FOR A BUDGET WE DESERVE

HARISH BIJOOR

SOURAV ROY

AS you read this column, we are just about three weeks away from the presentation of the Union Budget for 2024-25 by Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman. Prime Minister Narendra Modi has the distinction of being the driver of the Budget ethos possibly for the largest number of times, next only to Jawaharlal Nehru. The first full Budget of the 18th Lok Sabha already packs a lot of expectation. There is a palpable air of anticipation around it.

President Droupadi Murmu was the first to formally kick-start the Budget expectations. In the recent joint session of parliament, the president set the expectations on track. She spoke of "historic steps", "futuristic vision" and "far-reaching policies", for a start. Each of these phrases packs a lot of punch. The presidential address, in more ways than one, sets the tone of what is to come. It sets the bar, the standard.

Even as the nation prepares to look at the Economic Survey (which was not released before the last, interim Budget presented before the general election), the tone, tenor and decibel has been set. India is going to see and get a Budget it deserves. What does that mean?

A nation in many ways gets the budget it deserves. There are pre-election budgets and post-election budgets. While the former are normally soft, friendly and toothless, budgets that follow elections are normally tougher and more straightforward. But then that is too simplistic a statement to make. India is complex. We do not have one election season really. One nation, one election is still far away. We have many in a financial year. The months ahead, for instance, will have Maharashtra, Haryana, Jharkhand and Jammu & Kashmir go to the polls. And each of these states come with a complex set of expectations. In many ways, the Union Budget needs to look like a pre-election budget for these states. That is certainly a dampener on the "tougher and more straightforward" budget one speaks of. A nation sure does get the kind of budget it deserves. Tempered by the reality of politics—at the Centre and in the states—as much the wants of the people at large. A budget needs to balance these many expectations, at times even sober down items that point to reform and developmental zeal.

A budget is also about feedback. In many ways, the ultimate feedback mechanism to budgets that have gone by in a nation are the results that elections throw up. The recent election that brought in the NDA government to power is considered a feedback mechanism of high import as well. An election measures the mood of the nation. It actually helps the government at the Centre and states measure what has worked and what has not. When you sit in government and rule, you sit too close to the book to read it well enough. You take the words of your bureaucrats to be truths. Much of the time, these are myopic views of the truth. The truth rests elsewhere.

An election result throws up the truth as viewed by the common man. An election corrects that shortsightedness. It brings to the fore issues at the core. It throws up people's sentiments. The election gone by has done just that. A savvy government will always read it and heed it. Expect a lot of this reading to translate into positive action for the years ahead in Modi's third tenure. This is a big opportunity that has been given to Prime Minister Modi, and knowing his sense of reading the pulse of the people, expect change. Possibly big change even. While some if it may come through the exhortations of the Budget ahead, many will roll out as pieces of corrective and preemptive action for the nation to experience and appreciate. My expectation from this Budget is big. Very big, but hopefully not too big.

I am really looking at positive action that goes beyond the task of a pen-pushing set of moves. I am looking forward to a complete change of philosophy in the Budget ahead as well. For one, being hooked to GDP growth is possibly a very wrong thing to do. The Budget, and indeed every act of governance in the years ahead, needs to listen and act on the needs and wants of the poor, the distanced and the deprived more. There just might be a need to look at the very institutions tasked to take care of the needs of the poor. Poor-focused institutions need to be led by the poor-driven. Not by the rich-led. Institutions that take care of the malnourished must be led by the malnourished. The obese must not lead these organisations. Planning organisations, financial institutions and implementation wings need to be more connected to the real-poor rather than the pseudo-poor. Just as the 'welfare state' is a thought, the 'welfare institution' needs to be a piece of reality rather than a set of people and organisations playing the part without their skin in the game.

While we as a people who rule are likely to gravitate to be the glitterati as we do better and better in our vocations (politics included), our institutions must not follow the same trajectory. Our state and central governments cannot afford to be glitterati governments. Our government institutions of every kind, our banks, our educational institutions, our hospitals and healthcare network, our distribution systems, our MNCs (of both global and Indian kind), our brands (even the smaller ones) need to retrain themselves to be what they must be. In many ways, it is all about the leadership at these institutions, and what it pushes down as ethos.

While our governments at the centre and states are not really glitterati governments (they can't afford to be), I am not sure of our many institutions that carry out the work at the grassroots level. We need to infuse the injection of the grassroot and the real into many of them. That's a task in itself.

In the leaders of many an institution that govern the poor lies hypocrisy. And this hypocrisy thrives in the personal life of many a politician as well. Let me talk of my own situation. I write all this, and my children are educated overseas in the best of business schools. I write all this, and I equally savour the best of wines from the best origins across the world. I love evening get-togethers with the rich, the famous and the mighty. You cannot really be a socialite by night and a socialist by day. Not anymore. Not in today's India, with its many demands of the poor, the distanced and the deprived.

I am sure the Budget ahead will bite into many of these realities and correct institutional deliveries of justice to the poor, even as many of us hanker for lower tax rates, higher deductions and subsidies.

HEED VOICES AGAINST A CENTRALISED EXAM SYSTEM

JOHN J KENNEDY

Professor and Dean, Christ University, Bengaluru

THE National Eligibility cum Entrance Test (NEET) controversy gripping the nation underscores deep-rooted corruption, inefficiency and apathy. This unfolding disaster, while shocking to some, was foreseeable. Previous complaints about malpractices regarding the testing agency's functioning were often dismissed as conspiracy theories or politically-motivated critiques.

The decision to entrust a new agency with conducting multiple high-stakes centralised exams—such as NEET, NET, CUET, JEE, GMAT, and GPAT—was always contentious. Since its inception in 2017, the National Testing Agency (NTA) has failed to meet its objectives, resulting in a loss of credibility. The agency's claims of conducting tests of international standards efficiently and transparently, bridging knowledge gaps, identifying experts for question preparation, and ensuring professional standards have often come under scrutiny. The latest being the debacle surrounding the NEET-PG exam, abruptly cancelled just hours before schedule, leaving thousands of aspirants confused and frustrated.

The positive thing about the saga is the education minister has acknowledged lapses that have led to the postponement or cancellation of several exams. The Supreme Court's harsh critique of the education ministry and NTA highlights the severity.

Investigations revealed widespread malpractice, with over 40 instances of paper leaks in 15 states over the past five years. A third-party review of this year's NEET-UG exam highlighted serious non-compliance at exam centres, including the absence of CCTV cameras and inadequate security in strong rooms. Four people arrested in connection with the scam confessed to leaking question papers a day before the exam for an exorbitant fee of ₹32 lakh. Of course, the NTA chief has been sacked in an attempt to restore faith in the system. More heads are likely to roll in the coming weeks.

Now that the NEET controversy has exposed deep-seated corruption and inefficiency, what is the way forward? Beyond punishing the guilty, addressing the systemic flaws that allowed this situation to arise is imperative. The trust of millions of students who invest considerable time and money in preparation has been shattered. For many, especially those from poorer backgrounds who make significant sacrifices to afford coaching fees, these lapses are devastating. No doubt, we need immediate and lasting reforms. A high-level committee of seven experts headed by K Radhakrishnan is expected to recommend measures in two months to ensure fair and transparent exams and to reform the NTA. Also, with the CBI taking over, we hope to see positive results.

What are the key issues that plague the current system? Problems such as paper leaks, marking discrepancies, inflated scores, incorrect results, and non-transparent awarding of grace marks have been reported. The concentration of power in one organisation increases the potential for corruption and malpractice.

PTI

> India's centralised exam system suffers from paper leaks, marking discrepancies, incorrect results and non-transparent awarding of grace marks. Decentralisation, respect for institutional autonomy and local contexts should be prioritised

Some exams are perceived to favour students from the Central Board of Secondary Education schools, marginalising state board students. India's diverse educational landscape requires consideration of regional realities, which are largely ignored in the centralised approach. Tamil Nadu has long opposed NEET, arguing it benefits only a section of students, fosters malpractices, and supports the coaching industry. The A K Rajan committee report highlights how NEET is anti-poor and against the ideal of social justice. Additionally, since most malpractices are reported from northern states, students from the south unfairly bear the brunt of the fallout.

The centralisation of education disadvantages rural and poor students, turning NEET into an exercise favouring the wealthy. This lack of social diversity impacts the national health system, with fewer doctors willing to serve in rural areas. The approach disregards the unique challenges different regions face. The government also cannot ignore the inadequate investment in quality education and scarcity of colleges. The massive gap between the number of exam takers and available seats exacerbates competition and promotes the thriving coaching industry.

Improving the quality of school education is paramount to solving this crisis. Decentralisation, respect for institutional autonomy, and engagement with local contexts should be prioritised. Cooperative decision-making processes are essential, and strict implementation of laws is crucial. The systemic flaws have been highlighted also by the increasing number of students who resort to extreme measures. The National Crime Records Bureau's 2023 report said over 13,000 students committed suicide due to failure and depression.

Tamil Nadu's continued opposition to NEET, backed by legislative measures, must be viewed seriously. It showcases a regional pushback against a centralised system that fails to account for local education. The state's persistent efforts to highlight exam's drawbacks underscore the need for a more inclusive approach.

The implications extend beyond the immediate issues of exam malpractice. They strike at the heart of India's educational integrity, questioning the validity of a system that seems increasingly disconnected from needs of students. As the high-level committee prepares its report, one hopes its recommendations will pave the way for a more equitable examination process.

The NEET imbroglio is a clarion call for systemic reforms. Only that can ensure the aspirations of millions are nurtured in an environment of fairness and integrity.

Ref: Higher tariffs must not derail Digital India (Jul 1). The recent decision by three major telecom companies to increase tariffs may be justified from their perspective, but it risks adversely impacting India's burgeoning digital economy. Currently, India takes pride in offering the cheapest data rates. In this scenario, the government must intervene and ensure data costs remain affordable.

Law names

Ref: British-era rules end, new criminal laws from today (Jul 1). Laws must change with changing times, and there is nothing wrong in amending them. But changing the names of the acts into Hindi words would be a serious concern to south Indian and Northeastern states. The government should not change the names as even the legal fraternity is more comfortable with present names.

Perfect send-off

Ref: Good to be kings (Jul 1). The finals of the T20 World Cup was extra special because it was also the final match for a stalwart of Indian cricket, Rahul Dravid, as the head coach of the men's team. Dravid had not won a World Cup in his playing career and this victory was the perfect send-off for him.

Sweet victory

Cricket lovers across the world could not have asked for a better and pulsating finish to the World Cup. It was only in the fitness of things that two teams that remained unbeaten throughout the tournament battled it out. For the team whose ODI World Cup campaign ended in heart-break seven months back, the memorable win comes as a fairy-tale ending.

Unnecessary criticism

Ref: Modi resumes Mann Ki Baat address, thanks people for faith in Constitution (Jul 1). Mann Ki Baat is a good tradition started by PM Narendra Modi. No other PM tried this method to connect with people. But Congress leader Pawan Khera's criticism that he did not speak of the Delhi airport incident sounds hollow. We defend freedom of speech, but even question what the PM chooses to talk about in the Mann ki Baat.

Naming schemes

The Andhra Pradesh government has been disbursing many welfare schemes. Government is permanent, but people in governance are not. It's our money they are disbursing. Is it necessary to name them after politicians?

Rajya Sabha Chairman Jagdeep Dhankhar expunges Cong chief's remarks on saffron takeover of edu system

Kharge leads Oppn charge against BJP

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR
@ New Delhi

THE Rajya Sabha on Monday witnessed heated arguments between Leader of Opposition Mallikarjun Kharge and House chairman Jagdeep Dhankhar on the Congress president's remarks on the RSS.

During the discussion on the motion of thanks to the President's address, Kharge alleged, "Our education system has been taken over by BJP and RSS people. Vice chancellors of universities, professors, NCERT, and CBSE are all under the control of RSS, and people with good ideas have no place there."

Objecting to the remark, Dhankhar said, "Kharge ji, this will not go on record. I am expunging it. Is it a crime to be a member of any organisation? You are saying that an organisation has taken over. This is absolutely wrong."

He said, "This is an organisation which is working for the nation. It is working in the national interest. There are certified people in the country and the world." Kharge said the ideology of RSS is dangerous for the country. "That is why I am saying this. This is Manuwadi," he added.

Leader of the House in the Rajya Sabha JP Nadda said, "What the Leader of the Opposition said about RSS is a very irresponsible statement and should be expunged. They don't seem to have the slightest knowledge about the organisation."

'BJP, RSS TOOK OVER EDUCATION SYSTEM'

Mallikarjun Kharge said that the education system has been taken over by BJP and RSS people. "Vice chancellors of universities, professors, NCERT, and CBSE are all under the control of RSS." Objecting to the remark, Dhankhar said, "Is it a crime to be a member of any organisation? You are saying that an organisation has taken over. This is absolutely wrong."

Kharge said he was not alone who is saying this. Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel Patel had also said the same and "all the people of this country know that RSS people had killed Mahatma Gandhi by provoking Godse."

On this, Dhankhar said, "Kharge ji, nothing will go on record. You are not making your point. You are engaging unfortunately in bashing an organisation that is working for the nation tirelessly with nationalist mindset. I would have expected a leader of your stature to say nothing but appreciate."

He said Modi did not visit Manipur, which has been burning over the last one year. Kharge cited a remark by RSS chief Mohan Bhagwat on Manipur but that too was expunged.

Lashing out at the NDA government, Kharge said there have been exam paper leaks, cancellation of many examinations, train accident, terror attacks in Jammu & Kashmir, leakages in Ram temple, the collapse of canopy at three airports, an increase in toll taxes and depreciation of the rupee.

Mahua says BJP paid a huge price for expelling her from Parliament

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

TRINAMOOL Congress (TMC) MP Mahua Moitra on Monday lashed out at the BJP-led NDA government for expelling her in the last Lok Sabha session, saying they paid a very heavy price for throttling her voice which led to loss of 63 BJP MPs. Replying to the Motion of Thanks to the President's address to a joint sitting of Parliament, she said the BJP will not be able to run roughshod over the opposition the way they did during the last session. Moitra was expelled from Lok Sabha just months from elections over cash-for-query allegation.

"The BJP's 'raj tantra' has been reduced by the 'lok tantra' of this country. This is not a stable government. It depends on multiple allies who have a history of U-turns. We are 234 warriors this time, having walked on fire. You will not be able to treat us like last time," she said.

On the President's speech, Moitra said it failed to address critical issues. "There are six themes in the President's address. The budget for the North-East has increased four times, yet the word 'Manipur' is nowhere in the speech. The PM mentioned 'Muslim', 'madrassa', 'mutton', 'machhli' and 'mujra' but not 'Manipur' once during the campaigning. We don't need you to look East or act East," she said.

On Kashmir, the TMC MP questioned the abrogation of Article 370. "If abrogating it was such a good idea, why did the BJP not field candidates in Baramulla, Srinagar and Anantnag-Rajouri? You downgraded Ladakh, and five years later, they are still waiting for inclusion in the Sixth Schedule. As a result, the Ladakhis relegated you to third place" she said.

If abrogation of Article 370 was such a good idea, why did BJP not field candidates in Baramulla, Srinagar and Anantnag-Rajouri?

NEET-UG retest result out, ranks changed, says NTA

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

THE National Testing Agency (NTA) on Monday released the result for the National Eligibility cum Entrance Test - UG (NEET-UG) 2024 re-examination. In a release, the testing agency said that the counselling process by the Medical Counselling Committee (MCC) will start on July 6. Meanwhile, the revised date for NEET-PG 2024 is also expected soon.

Candidates can check the updated dates on natboard.edu.in. Earlier, the Ministry of Health and Family Welfare (MoHFW) issued a press release stating that the NEET-PG exam had been postponed as a "precautionary measure" due to recent allegations concerning the integrity of competitive examinations in the country.

In response, representatives from the Indian Medical Association (IMA) met with the president of the National Board of Examination (NBE) to discuss the challenges faced by NEET-PG aspirants following the exam's cancellation.

Dr Anilkumar J. Nayak, Honorary Secretary General of the IMA, briefed the NBE chief on the situation and emphasized IMA's demand for an early announcement of the new exam date. NBE chief Dr Abhijat Sheth assured that the new exam dates would be announced very shortly.

The NTA has released the results for the NEET-UG 2024 retest, which was conducted for 1,563 candidates. The select candidates had initially been awarded grace marks due to a loss of exam time. Of these, 813 candidates appeared for the retest.

None of the 813 candidates managed to achieve a perfect score of 720/720. This, in turn, reduced the number of toppers from 67 to 61.

Five of the six candidates who previously received a perfect score took the retest on June 23, and they maintained high scores above 680.

Plea on OMR sheet manipulation deferred

The Supreme Court on Monday posted for hearing after two weeks a plea alleging OMR sheet manipulation in the controversy-ridden NEET-UG, 2024. The counsel appearing for the petitioner, who had taken the medical entrance exam, alleged that his OMR sheet was swapped.

New laws will give justice, says Shah

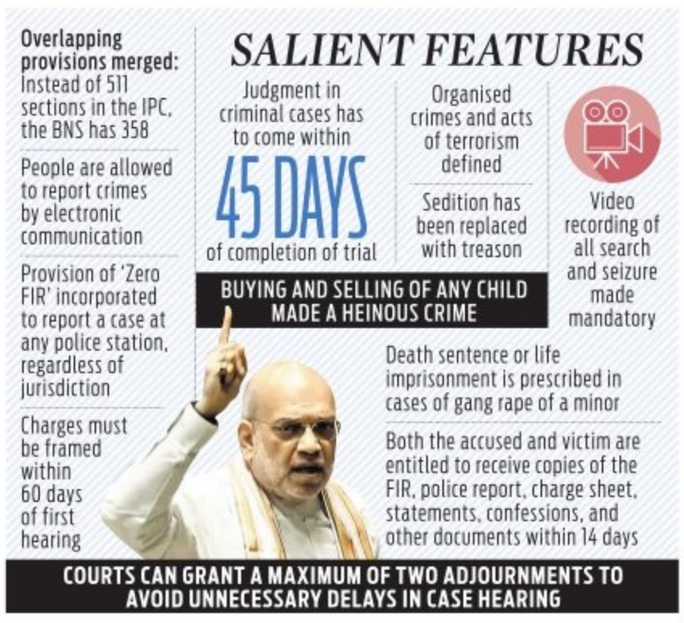
MUKESH RANJAN & RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

HOME Minister Amit Shah, who spearheaded the three new criminal laws, which have come into force now, said on Monday that the Acts emphasise justice rather than punishment and appealed to the Opposition not to indulge in politics over them, maintaining that they have been brought after wider consultation.

Speaking at a presser at the Parliament Library, Shah officially announced the implementation of the Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita, Bharatiya Nagarik Surakasha Sanhita, and the Bharatiya Sakshya Adhiniyam. These laws replace the British-era Indian Penal Code, Code of Criminal Procedure, and Indian Evidence Act.

Shah, however, maintained that he and the government are open to constructive suggestions and, if required, changes in the laws could be incorporated. "I am ready to meet anyone. But please do not do politics," he said.

He asserted that these reforms will ensure swift justice, post an impressive 90% conviction rate and transform the judicial landscape.



Rejecting the criticism that the three new criminal laws were draconian, Shah said they are modern, protect the rights of victims, and fix accountability on police forces to improve criminal justice system.

Shah said the criticisms were parochial and jaded arguments, aimed at misleading the people. "These laws were passed after debates in both Houses and scrutinised by a parliamentary standing committee," he said, adding that most of the suggestions given by the Opposition were accepted "except those with political colour."

To a question about the protest by Tamil Nadu MPs against the Hindi names of the new laws, he said these statutes are available in Tamil language and all the languages listed in the Constitution's eighth schedule.

Congress president Mallikarjun Kharge said, "After the political and moral shock in the elections, Modi and the BJP are pretending to respect the Constitution, but the truth is that the three laws were passed forcibly after suspension of 146 MPs."

Draconian, says CPM

The CPM said that the implementation of the new criminal laws is draconian in nature. The party said that the laws were passed without a debate in the House, in a blatantly autocratic and anti-democratic manner when many opposition MPs were suspended from Parliament.

All languages

On the protest by Tamil Nadu MPs against the Hindi names of the new laws, Home Minister Amit Shah, who spearheaded the three new criminal laws, said that these statutes are available in all the languages listed in the eighth schedule of the Constitution. He asked the Opposition not to indulge in politics.

NEW CRIMINAL LAWS

Docs up in arms as laws dealing with negligence suggest jail term, fine

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @ New Delhi

ON National Doctor's Day, many doctors were united in protesting a specific section in the Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita (BNS), which replaced long-standing British-era laws.

The new law requires doctors to pay a fine and also face 5-year jail term if found guilty of a negligent act that does not amount to culpable homicide. Earlier, under the IPC, there was a provision for a fine or two-year jail term.

Dr Arun Gupta, president Delhi Medical Council, said, "Earlier, the provision under 304 A did not specify medical professions, and it was of a general nature. However, the new law brings modern medicine practitioners into the ambit and clearly defines them. The law now makes jail term mandatory."

He said the doctors were apprehensive. "This will be a big deterrent for doctors handling critically ill patients. What kind of protection will they have now?" he asked. "The SC had also said that police cannot register a case against a doctor unless they get a clearance of prime facie from a competent medical body." he added.

Dr RV Asokan, national president, Indian Medical Association, said they shared their views with the PM and Home Minister that doctors should be exempt from the law as they don't have criminal intent. "The new law has increased the punishment for the doctors. Doctors don't deserve this," he said.

Dr Rohan Krishnan, FAIMA national chairman, said: "What was promised in Parliament has not been delivered."

Dr Dhruv Chauhan, national council coordinator of the Indian Medical Association-Junior Doctors Network (IMA-JDN) said, "The doctors working in the critical departments already have to worry before treating a sick patient thinking what if anything happens to the patient by trying to save life by critical approach then it's the doctor who has to pay and suffer."

J'khand HC spots 'error' in printed edition

MUKESH RANJAN @ Ranchi

THE Jharkhand High Court on Monday took suo motu cognizance of an error in the Universal LexisNexis edition of the Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita (BNS) bare act.

The Division Bench of Justices Ananda Sen and Subhash Chand noted that Section 103(2), which deals with lynching, had been incorrectly reproduced in the LexisNexis version. The version used the words "any other ground" instead of "any other similar ground."

"While going through the 'Bare Act – Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita', we found a major omission and error that goes to the root of one of the penal provisions and changes its interpretation and application. The said error is in the Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita 2023. Section 103 of the said Act provides for the punishment of murder. Subsection (1) of Section 103 states that whoever commits murder shall be punished with death or with imprisonment for life and shall also be liable to a fine," the court said.

Model poll code hit infra projects as only 4km roads built in May: Ministry

PARVEZ SULTAN @ New Delhi

THE implementation of Moddel Code of Conduct (MCC) has impacted the infrastructure development in the country. As per the monthly report of the ministry of road transport and highways (MoRTH), only a project of 4km-long road was built in May after the requisite approval of the Election Commission of India. The report was placed before the recent cabinet meeting.

The ministry prepares a summary about various projects and other developments to apprise the Cabinet every month. "Due to the imposition of MCC, projects could not be awarded except one project of 4-km with the approval of the ECI as compared to 382-km during the same period last year," read the summary report.

The ministry informed that it had constructed 1,288 km of National Highways (NH) till May as compared to 1,465 km in the last year.

According to the report, 77

land acquisition notifications and land acquisition compensation of approximately ₹683.25 crore was processed through Bhomi Rashi-(Public Financial Management System) PFMS portal. The ministry designed Bhoomi Rashi as a single point platform for online processing of land acquisition notifications to accelerate highway infrastructure development projects in India. Elections were announced in March hence MCC had come into effect.

In the monthly report of April, the ministry constructed 483km of national highways while the total length of road built in April 2023 was 523-kms. The report stated that 88 land acquisition notifications were issued and acquisition compensation of approximately ₹600 crore was processed.

In Standing Finance Committee meetings in April, three projects of length 22.47 km with total capital cost of ₹764.38 crore were recommended by the committee for approval.

As per the ministry's report, in March, work for 8,581-km was awarded against a target of 13,290 km. It stated that the major shortfall was because revised approval of the cabinet could not be obtained for Bharatmala Pariyojana.

The report said that the ministry constructed 12,349 km which is 20 percent more than the length of highways developed during the same period last year. It was the second highest performance as it made a record of building 13,327 km of road including strengthening of 4,900 km in 2021.

July likely to get above normal rainfall

JITENDRA CHOUBEY @ New Delhi

THE India Meteorological Department has forecast above-normal rainfall in July in most parts of the country except northeast, and eastern states like some parts of western Bihar, east UP and Jharkhand.

Below-average rainfall is also predicted for north Tamil Nadu, coastal Andhra Pradesh, Jammu & Kashmir and Ladakh. June recorded below-normal rainfall.

July rainfall averaged over the country as a whole is most likely to be above normal -- more than 106% of the long-period average (LPA) of 280.4 mm, IMD said on Monday in its monthly outlook for rainfall and temperature. IMD warned of high possibility of extreme rainfall in Odisha, Karnataka, Haryana and some parts of UP, Chhattisgarh, and Jharkhand.

The monsoon will be further intensified in the second half of the monsoon (August-September) as La Nina conditions are likely to be developed while El Nino conditions over the equatorial Pacific are in a neutral phase.

In India, El Nino phenomenon is synonymous with poor monsoon whereas La Nina indicates bountiful monsoon.

Besides, monthly minimum temperatures of July are likely to be above-normal over many parts of the country except some parts of northwest, adjoining central India and southeastern peninsular. The maximum temperature is likely to be normal to below normal over many parts of the northwest India and south peninsular India except the west coast, IMD said.

The Met Department observed that northwest India was the warmest since 1901 in June while east and northeast regions experienced the fifth warmest month since 1901. It led to the highest number of heatwave days (181 days) in the last 15 years. 2010 had recorded 177 heatwave days.

During the summer this year, India experienced the second hottest period -- 536 heat wave days in terms of met-sub division, the highest in the last 14 years after 2010 (578 days).

Apart from excess heat in June, India also experienced a deficit monsoon. India received overall -11% deficient rainfall, which was 7th lowest rainfall in the past 24 years.

Northwest region received the highest deficit followed by east and northeast, and central India. However, the southern peninsula received above normal rainfall by 14.2%. The reason behind subdued rainfall activity was due to weaker Madden Julian Oscillation, lack of formation of low pressure system over the Bay of Bengal.

The IMD observed the trend that there is a higher probability of above normal rainfall if June experienced deficit rainfall.

Yogi gets free hand, picks Manoj Singh as top bureaucrat

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

The appointment of Manoj Kumar Singh, 1988-batch IAS officer, as state's chief secretary, after a two-and-a-half-year stint of "Delhi-recommended" Durga Shankar Mishra, seems to suggest that CM Yogi Adityanath got "free hand" in the selection of the state's top bureaucrat. Mishra, 1984-batch IAS officer, was chief secretary on three consecutive extensions given by the Centre. His latest term ended on June 30.

The Centre had repatriated Mishra to UP as chief secretary in 2022 replacing RK Tiwari.

"Mishra was appointed as UP chief secretary on the recommendation of the Centre as its representative in Lucknow," says a senior bureaucrat pleading anonymity. Mishra's appointment had blocked elevation of IAS officers from 1985, 1986 and 1987 batches, he said.

Singh, believed to be a part of Yogi's inner circle, is set to retire on July 31, 2025. He also holds the charge of UP Infrastructural and Industrial Development Commissions and Agriculture Production Commission. Singh has the credit of having served as the nodal officer of 2019 Kumbh Mela.

His appointment seems to suggest that Yogi has consolidated his position, especially in the wake of Mahakumbh in Prayagraj in 2025 followed by the UP assembly elections in 2027.

While making the announcement, a government spokesperson said Singh, from Ranchi, was picked up from a panel of officers identified by Yogi Adityanath. Singh also served as Additional Chief Secretary.

Speculations were rife that Mishra could get another extension after his meeting with Home Minister Amit Shah on June 17. Mishra's meeting with Shah assumed significance as the Yogi government had given clearance to two IAS officers—SP Goyal and Devesh Chaturvedi—for Central deputation. The two officers of 1989-batch are expected to be appointed as secretary in the upcoming bureaucratic reshuffle at the Centre.

Jains seek right to worship at Bhojshala in MP

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bhopal

WHILE Archaeological Survey of India (ASI) readies to submit before the Madhya Pradesh High Court the detailed report on the 97-days long survey of the disputed Bhojshala Temple-cum-Kamal Maula Mosque, now the Jain community has petitioned the HC, claiming that the complex was once a Jain Gurukul-Temple.

The petition has been filed recently by Delhi-based Salek Chand Jain, a national executive member of the Vishwa Jain Sangathan in the Indore Bench of the MP High Court, which is hearing a bunch of petitions related to the 11th century monument.

In the petition, the petitioner has claimed the existence of a Jain Gurukul and a Jain Temple, where the idol of Goddess Ambika was installed. The petitioner has claimed that monks and scholars from the Jain community taugh t students there. The translation of various scriptures in Sanskrit, Prakrit and other languages was also done in the complex, owing to which the petitioner has prayed to the HC that the Jain community be given the "right to worship" at the place. The HC's Indore Bench is likely to hear this new petition along with other petitions from Hindu and Muslim sides, when the matter comes up for hearing on July 4.

Rivers in spate as Assam flood situation worsens

35 deaths reported, lakhs of people from 1,275 villages in 19 dists hit

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @ Guwahati

THE flood situation in Assam worsened on Monday with five major rivers, including the mighty Brahmaputra, flowing above the danger level in some places. So far, the deluge has affected a population of 6,44,128 across 1,275 villages in 19 districts and claimed 35 lives.

Prime Minister Narendra Modi called up Chief Minister Himanta Biswa Sarma and took stock of the situation. Later, Sarma said he had explained to the PM that Assam was experiencing a second wave of the floods which were triggered by heavy rains in adjoining Arunachal Pradesh and parts of upper Assam.

"I also briefed him about the relief measures undertaken by the state government. He assured me of full cooperation from the Centre in this hour of crisis," the CM said.

Sarma added that he asked all ministers, MLAs and officials to closely monitor the situation. The floodwaters inundated areas, including Dibrugarh town, falling under the Dibrugarh parliamentary seat which is represented by Union minister Sarbananda Sonowal, the river island Majuli, Kaziranga National Park & Tiger Reserve among others. Sonowal urged Sarma to provide all the required assistance to the flood victims and initiate emergency efforts to mitigate the loss.

"Spoke to Hon'ble Assam CM Shri @himantabiswa over phone regarding the flood situation in Dibrugarh, Tinsukia and other parts of the state. Requested him to provide all necessary assistance to the flood victims," Sonowal said in a post on X. The CM responded positively, the office of the Union minister said.

In Majuli, the floods breached embankments, inundating vast swathes of the island. Similarly, the floodwaters inundated 60% of Kaziranga. It has 233 camps and 95 of them are inundated. In a statement, the park authorities said the elephants had been moved to safe areas to protect them from floodwaters.

"Boats, boatlines, barricades, raincoats, rescue materials and medicines have been procured and deployed. Country boats, speedboats and mechanised boats have been strategically deployed in key areas for swift response," the statement said.

Barricades were placed on a highway to control traffic and ensure the safe passage of wildlife. "Joint patrolling by commando action groups and forest teams is being conducted regularly. Additional staff from neighbouring divisions have been deployed to intensify patrolling. Joint patrolling in the fringe areas of the park is being carried out," it said.

CM concerned as AIDS cases go up

Assam Chief Minister Himanta Biswa Sarma is concerned over an alarming rise in the number of HIV/AIDS patients who were infected with the disease due to injecting drugs. He recently reviewed HIV/AIDS prevalence in the state and the state government's efforts to combat the issue. Sharing the figures, Sarma said a stark point was how 65% of the HIV positive people detected last year contracted the disease due to injecting drugs. "Our stern efforts towards a #DrugsFreeAssam thus assumes greater significance as it is leading to severe irreversible health complications for the people," he wrote on X.

Polls gone, ST status demand resurfaces

The Lok Sabha elections are done and dusted away with and the demand of Scheduled Tribe (ST) status to six communities has resurfaced. Angry that the BJP has not fulfilled the demand despite a promise, the All Moran Students' Union has decided to stage a series of protests in upper Assam's Tinsukia, Dibrugarh, Sivasagar and Charaideo. It said the BJP secured the votes of the Morans by giving a false promise that it would grant ST status to the community. "We will stage protests from first week of July and also boycott Independence Day," a leader of students' group said.

Assam basks in Riyan's glory

Assam is basking in the glory of cricketer Riyan Parag who has been selected in the India side that will tour Zimbabwe. The 22-year-old is the first cricketer from the Northeast to join the national men's team. His father, Parag Das, is a former first-class cricketer who represented Assam, Railways and East Zone cricket teams. Riyan's mother Mithoo Barooah is a former national record holding swimmer who represented India at the Asian Championships and SAF Games. CM Himanta Biswa Sarma described Riyan's selection as a watershed moment for sports. "Our very own Assam boy becomes the first cricketer from Northeast to join the 'Men in Blue' club," he said.

MP House storm over admissions in nursing colleges

ANURAAG SINGH @ Bhopal

THE monsoon session of the Madhya Pradesh Vidhan Sabha began on a stormy note on Monday, with the opposition Congress MLAs, demanding a debate on the nursing college scam through an adjournment motion.

The opposition party's legislators, who wore white nursing aprons, first protested before the statue of Mahatma Gandhi over the issue and later raised the issue in the House, demanding a debate on the issue through adjournment motion.

Spearheading the Congress MLAs was the leader of opposition (LoP) Umang Singhar, who has been continuously demanding the resignation of current sports-youth welfare and cooperatives minister Vishvas Sarang, accusing him and associated bureaucrats of involvement in the scam. The minister of parliamentary affairs Kailash Vijayvargiya, however, raised the point of order, saying any such issue which is already being heard by the High Court and also being probed by an investigation agency (CBI), cannot be discussed in the legislature.

The LoP and his fellow party MLAs, however, opposed Vijayvargiya, saying the issue sought to be raised through the debate. Pandemonium prevailed in the House as the members of benches indulged in noisy war of words, forcing the Speaker Narendra Singh Tomar to adjourn the House for 47 minutes.

Maha turmoil over use of 'abusive words' in council

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @Mumbai

A scuffle broke out in the Maharashtra legislative council over Rahul Gandhi's remarks in the Lok Sabha on Hindus, resulting in the adjournment of the state legislative council proceedings for the day after frequent disruptions. BJP legislator Prasad Lad raised the issue in the Council, saying Rahul Gandhi has insulted Hindus in the country and condemned his remarks, drawing a sharp reply from the leader of the opposition Ambadas Danve of Shiv Sena (UBT) and Congress legislators.

They objected to Lad raising Gandhi's comments on the floor and sought deputy chairperson Neelam Gorhe's intervention. Lad also raised slogans against Rahul Gandhi. Amid the din, Gorhe adjourned the Council. After it reassembled, other BJP legislators including Pravin Darekar, joined Lad, forcing another adjournment. Darekar claimed the leader of the Opposition had used indecent language in the House.

However, as members of the treasury benches and the Opposition continued to create a ruckus, the deputy chairperson adjourned the council proceedings for the day. As the uproar continued, the Deputy Chairperson said, "I want to inform Prasad Lad that his tone is inappropriate. However, given discussions in this House have stooped so low, therefore I adjourn the House."

Guv to Centre: Remove police chief of Kolkata

SULAGNA SENGUPTA @ Kolkata

WEST Bengal Governor CV Ananda Bose has written to the Centre seeking removal of Kolkata police commissioner and deputy commissioner (central division) for "unconstitutional move" of probing alleged sexual harassment charges against him.

Sources in Raj Bhavan said the Governor was taking legal advice on how he can go ahead with the harassment complaint. A police complaint was filed against three Raj Bhavan officials in Kolkata for "wrongfully restraining" a woman who accused the Governor of molestation.

An FIR was filed at Hare Street police station after the woman, a contractual employee at Raj Bhavan, provided her statement to a magistrate regarding the molestation case.

Bose wrote to Raj Bhavan staff, "Since the Governor has been granted constitutional immunity from any criminal proceedings being instituted or continued against him, it logically follows that the police cannot investigate/inquire into the matter in any manner."

NHRC seeks report on 'JCB' whipping Bengal couple in full public view

UJWAL JALALI & SULAGNA SRNGUPTA @ New Delhi/Kolkata

THE National Human Rights Commission (NHRC) has taken suo motu cognizance of a couple being brutally beaten up in a village in West Bengal's Uttar Dinajpur district by a group of people, led by a Trinamool Congress local leader, and issued notices to the state chief secretary and director general of police, calling for a detailed report within a week.

Governor CV Anand Bose on Monday wrote to CM Mamata Banerjee enquiring about the incident. He will visit the area on Tuesday where the incident took place.

Tajimul Islam, known as 'JCB' among the locals, was arrested on Sunday for publicly whipping a man and a woman after a video of the incident went viral on social media. According to reports, Islam is a local TMC leader and he himself claims to be a "don of the area". However, TMC leaders claimed that Tajimul holds no position in the party.

The NHRC has observed that the reported "cruel and disgraceful" act of the miscreants indicates that state authorities have "not learnt any lessons" neither from the "shameful incidents" that occurred in the past nor from the concern raised by the commission.

The report being sought from the chief secretary and the DGP. The NHRC said that it should include the status of the police investigation into the matter, the health status of the victims and their medical treatment, if any.

Local leaders of Opposition parties such as the BJP and the CPM said that Islam is a TMC leader and allegedly organises kangaroo courts to settle disputes — ranging from property to extramarital affairs. Besides the physical assaults, he also imposes fines, they say. "He is a TMC worker and close to the local MLA. He is called JCB because he demolished his opposition," said Surajit Das, BJP district president.

Cong seeks restoration of statehood ahead of J&K polls, to take call on tie-up

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

WITH the likelihood of Assembly elections in J&K in August-September, the Congress has demanded that statehood be restored before the Assembly polls. The party has also authorised its J&K unit to take a call on forging alliances with parties for the Assembly polls, first such exercise in J&K UT.

"Without restoration of statehood, polls in J&K would be meaningless. We are seeing the fate of Delhi CM Arvind Kejriwal. Our party leaders and other opposition leaders will also be raising the issue forcefully in Parliament," said senior J&K Congress leader and former MLC Ghulam Nabi Monga.

On August 5, 2019, the Centre scrapped J&K's special status and bifurcated the erstwhile J&K state into two Union Territories – Jammu and Kashmir (with legislature) and Ladakh (without legislature). The Supreme Court in December last year directed the Election Commission to hold Assembly polls in J&K before September 30, 2024. Ahead of the Assembly polls, the Congress held a brainstorming session involving its J&K unit and the party leadership in New Delhi last week.

A Congress leader, who attended the Delhi meeting, said results of recently held Lok Sabha polls in UT were discussed in detail during the meeting. Although Congress lost both the seats it contested in the Jammu region to the BJP, its vote share increased by 5-10%.

Women CID officer held for aiding bootlegger in 'dry' Gujarat's Kutch

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA @ Ahmedabad

A woman CID officer was caught aiding a liquor smuggler in Gujarat's Kutch district. Both were arrested in Bhachau area when they were escaping in a car with liquor loaded in it, police said on Monday.

On Sunday night, police were checking vehicles near Chopdwa Bridge in Bhachau area of Kutch to curb liquor smuggling. The CID officer and the bootlegger were coming in a white Thar carrying liquor. They ignored the police signal to stop and attempted to run over the cops checking vehicles.

Another police convoy immediately chased the vehicle and intercepted it at a roadblock. Upon searching the vehicle, police discovered 16 bottles of liquor and two tins of beer. Liquor smuggler Yuvraj Singh and CID officer Neeta Chaudhary were arrested, and legal proceedings initiated, police said.

East Kutch superintendent of police Sagar Bagmar told media persons that Bhachau police and Local Crime Branch (LCB) had launched a checking operation based on information about liquor smuggling.

"During the operation, a white Thar vehicle tried to evade the police, with the driver attempting to run over the officers. However, another police convoy successfully stopped the vehicle and apprehended the suspects. Police also fired one round during the chase. Among those arrested were Neeta Chaudhary, a policewoman serving in East Kutch CID, and the notorious smuggler and bootlegger Yuvraj Singh," said the SP.

"Upon investigation, 16 bottles of liquor and two beer tins were found in the vehicle. A case was registered against the two under the anti-prohibition law. Additionally, the police have registered offences under sections 307 and 427 of the IPC," Bagmar said.

The SP said CID officer Chaudhary was assisting bootlegger Singh in the smuggling operation. "Yuvraj Singh is a habitual criminal. He is wanted in 6 cases and facing charges of attempted murder," Bagmar said. The arrest of Chaudhary has drawn attention due to her lifestyle and social media presence. She was previously in news for her unconventional behaviour, including making dance videos in police uniform. Previously, some police officers in Gujarat have been caught assisting bootleggers, despite the state's ban on the sale of liquor. In another incident, liquor bottles were seized from a car that met with an accident in Ahmedabad on Monday.

26-yr-old Bihar woman bobbitises man over denial of marriage, held

RAMASHANKAR @ Patna

A 26-year-old woman allegedly chopped off the genitals of a man in Bihar's Saran district on Monday, reportedly due to repeated denials of marriage. The woman has been taken into custody, and a blood-stained knife was recovered from her possession.

The incident took place at a private nursing home under the Marhaura police station in Saran district around 10 am on Monday. The woman, who claimed to be a doctor, had been in a relationship with 30-year-old Ved Prakash for over two years. She accused him of sexually exploiting her under the pretext of marriage.

The woman revealed that she took the extreme step after Ved Prakash failed to appear at the court for their registered marriage on July 1. Deeply hurt by his actions, she called him to her clinic, injected him with medicine, and then chopped off his genitals, leaving him bleeding profusely.

She immediately called the police to the nursing home and handed over the blood-stained knife. The police took the victim to the government Sadar Hospital in Chhapra, from where he was referred to a private nursing home in Patna. His condition is reported to be stable.

SP Saran, Kumar Ashish, said that the woman has been taken into custody. During the initial inquiry, it was revealed that they had been in a relationship for a long time.

The woman said the interrogators that Ved Prakash had promised to marry her but failed to show up at the court for their registered marriage. She claimed that she had to undergo two abortions at his persuasion.

French election round one goes to far-right party

Macron's camp hopes that tactical voting on July 7 will prevent RN from absolute majority

PARIS

FRENCH President Emmanuel Macron and his allies were on Monday battling to prevent the far right from taking an absolute majority and control of government in a historic first after his gamble on early elections backfired.

The far-right National Rally (RN) party of Marine Le Pen won a resounding victory in the first round of the polls Sunday, with Macron's centrists trailing in third behind a left-wing coalition.

But the key suspense ahead of the second round on July 7 was whether the RN would win an absolute majority in the new National Assembly, enabling it to form a government and make Le Pen's protege Jordan Bardella, 28, prime minister.

Most projections published by French polling organisations showed the RN falling short of an absolute majority, but the final outcome remains far from certain.

A hung parliament could lead to months of political paralysis and chaos – just as Paris is preparing to host the Olympic Games this summer, and while France on the international stage takes a prime role in backing Ukraine against the Russian invasion.

French Prime Minister Gabriel Attal, who is likely to be forced to resign after the second round, warned that the far right was now at the "gates of power". The RN should not get a "single vote" in the second round, he said.

Raphael Glucksmann, a key figure in the left-wing alliance, said voters had "seven days to spare France from catastrophe".

Marine Le Pen

The RN garnered 33% of the vote, compared to 28% for the left-wing New Popular Front alliance, and more than 20% for Macron's centrist camp, according to preliminary results.

But with less than 100 seats being decided outright in the first round, the final composition of the 577-seat National Assembly will only be clear after the second phase. The second round will see a three-way or two-way run-off in the remainder of the seats to be decided, with Macron's camp hoping that tactical voting will prevent the RN winning the 289 seats needed for an absolute majority. Macron urged a "broad" coalition against the far right. AFP

Trump gets some SC relief, trial delayed

WASHINGTON

THE US Supreme Court ruled Monday that Donald Trump enjoys some immunity from prosecution as a former president, a ruling that will likely delay his trial for conspiring to overturn the 2020 election.

The 6-3 decision split along ideological lines comes four months ahead of the presidential election in which Trump is the Republican candidate to take on Democrat Joe Biden.

The historic case was the last heard during the court's current term and has far-reaching implications for executive power and the White House race.

Conservative Chief Justice John Roberts, in his majority opinion, said a president is "not above the law" but does have "absolute immunity" from criminal prosecution for official acts taken while in office.

"The president therefore may not be prosecuted for exercising his core constitutional powers, and he is entitled, at a minimum, to a presumptive immunity from prosecution for all his official acts," he said.

"As for a President's unofficial acts, there is no immunity," the chief justice added, sending the case back to a lower court to determine which of the charges facing the former president involves official or unofficial conduct. A US District Court will now hold what is expected to be a series of lengthy pre-trial hearings, making a trial before the November election extremely unlikely.

Trump is charged with conspiracy to defraud the United States. AFP

ASIA MATTERS

No plans to set upper age limit for drivers

While age may be a worry, there are no plans to place a cap on the age of drivers, said the transport minister Anthony Loke. He acknowledged that there had been calls to impose an age limit on drivers to prevent accidents. "There have been proposals but we have to be practical and give proper consideration before any decision is made," he said, The Straits Times reported. Loke said that while age was a factor, there are other reasons against imposing a "cut-off limit". He said that it would be difficult to impose a ban on senior citizens driving, especially so in rural areas.

pm vows to work harder

Prime Minister Srettha Thavisin vowed to work harder to improve the government's performance after an opinion poll showed his popularity and that of the ruling Pheu Thai Party have declined, trailing behind their main political rivals, Bangkok Post reported. The popularity of Srettha and Pheu Thai have continued to fall.

Car sales slow down; TaMo sees 8% fall in Jun

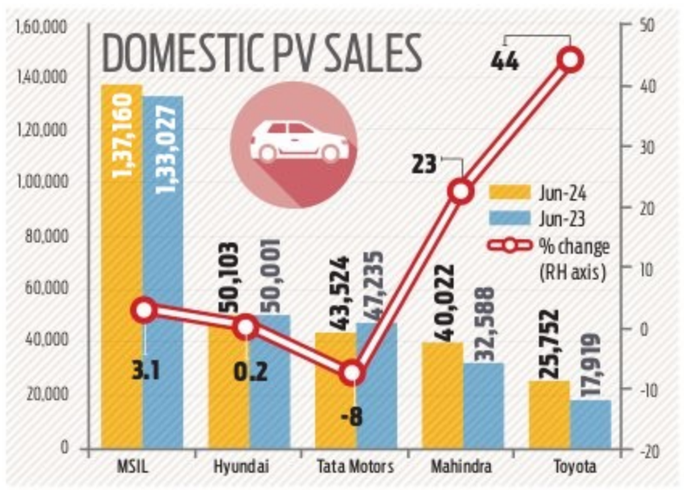
Sales growth falls even as original equipment manufacturers flooded the market with attractive discounts, offers

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

OWING to the lack of fresh demand and the high base of last year, car sales growth remained in the slow lane in June 2024. According to industry figures, total domestic passenger vehicle (PV) sales last month stood at 340,784 units, up by about 12,000 units or 3.6%, when compared to June 2023 sales (328,710 units).

The limited growth comes even as original equipment manufacturers (OEMs) flooded the market with attractive discounts and offers.

While the country's largest carmaker Maruti Suzuki (MSIL) reported a 3.1% increase in domestic passenger vehicle sales to 137,160 units in June 2024 and Hyundai barely managed to remain in green at 50,103 units, homegrown automajor Tata Motors witnessed its sales plummeting by 8% to 43,524 units. At 43.5K units, this is the lowest sales for Tata Motors in calendar year 2024.



"In the first quarter of the financial year 2024-25, after a boost in demand in the first half of April, on account of festivities in some parts of the country, the passenger vehicle industry saw a decline in retails (registrations) in the months of May and June, influenced by the general elections and heat waves across the country," said Shailesh Chandra, Managing Director, Tata Motors Passenger Vehicles.

Chandra added that the electric vehicle industry was affected by the broader industry trend and the impact of significant preponement fleet sales in the fourth quarter of the financial year 2023-24, because of the expiry of FAME II subsidy in March 2024. Electric vehicle sales for the automaker declined sharply by 34% to 4,657 units in June.

Going forward, Tata Motors foresee a recovery in demand, as enquiries have remained strong despite low retails in the past two months. This strong enquiry pipeline, in addition to the onset of festive season from the month of August, augurs well for the industry, said Chandra.

Partho Banerjee, Senior Executive Officer, Marketing and Sales at MSIL, said that the onset of monsoon, which is going to be normal and Kharif sowing expected to be at record level this year, is a positive for the Industry. He added that Maruti has a stock of 37-38 days all over the country, which is slightly higher than the normal norm. Banerjee repeated that PV sales growth this year will be limited.

Meanwhile, automaker with strong sport utility vehicle (SUV) portfolio continues to beat the slowdown trend. Mahindra & Mahindra (M&M) sold 40,022 vehicles in the domestic market, a growth of 23%. Toyota Kirloskar Motor (TKM) recorded a growth of 40% in June 2024 by selling 27,474 units. Kia India's total wholesales increased 10% year-on-year to 21,300 units in June.

GST collection in June rises 7.7% to ₹1.74 lakh crore

MONIKA YADAV @ New Delhi

As the goods and services tax (GST) completes seven years in June 2024, the gross monthly collection reached ₹1.74 lakh crore, marking a 7.7% increase compared to the previous year, according to an official who didn't want to be named.

This brings the total collection for the current financial year to ₹5.57 lakh crore. In April 2023, the gross GST collection had hit a record high of ₹2.10 lakh crore. Out of the total gross GST revenue collected in June, CGST accounted for ₹39,586 crore and SGST accounted for ₹33,548 crore, as per the source.

Pratik Jain, Partner, PwC India said, "While the growth in collection in June seems to be on a lower side as against previous month, overall GST collections have shown an encouraging trend over last few months. Industry hopes that the trend will enable the GST Council to reinitiate the rate rationalization excercise as indicated in the last council meeting."

On Monday, the finance ministry stated that GST, which marked seven years of implementation, has brought joy and relief to every household by lowering taxes on household appliances and mobile phones.

"With reduced tax rates on household goods after GST implementation, 7 years of GST has brought happiness and relief to every home through lower GST on household appliances and mobile phones," the ministry said on X.

The number of GST taxpayers grew to 1.46 crore in April 2024 from 1.05 crore in April 2018. The Ministry added that compliance burden reduced for small taxpayers as taxpayers having annual aggregate turnover upto ₹2 crore are not required to file Annual Return (Form GSTR-9).

"Upsurge in e-Way Bills generation indicates #Sustainable and robust economic growth in #7yearsofGST," it stated.

As per the ministry, the Quarterly Return filing & Monthly Payment of Taxes (QRMP) Scheme has decreased the number of returns filed in a year from 24 to 8 for over 44 lakh small taxpayers. The Invoice Furnishing Facility (IFF) has facilitated smooth passage of Input Tax Credit (ITC).

The Ministry on X posted, "With reduced tax rates on household goods after GST implementation, #7yearsofGST has brought happiness and relief to every home through lower GST on household appliances and mobile phones."

AGREEMENT

RBI pact with Asean nations for UPI services

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

IN a first step to take the highly successful UPI to the wider world outside, the Reserve Bank Monday entered into an agreement with the Asean countries to create a platform to facilitate instantaneous cross-border retail payments by joinin the Project Nexus.

The Reserve Bank has been collaborating bilaterally with various countries to link the fast payments system (FPS)--the unified payments interface (UPI)--with their respective FPSs for cross-border person to person (P2P) and person to merchant (P2M) payments. And the UPI is already active in Singapore and the UAE and a few north African countries.

To achieve the objective, the Reserve Bank has now joined the Project Nexus, a multilateral international initiative to enable instant cross-border retail payments by interlinking domestic FPSs.

Project Nexus, conceptualised by the Innovation Hub of the Bank for International Settlements (BIS), aims to connect the FPSs of four Asean countries (Malaysia, the Philippines, Singapore, and Thailand) and India making them the founding members and first mover countries of this platform.

An agreement to this effect was signed by the BIS and the central banks of these founding countries--Bank Negara Malaysia, Bank of Thailand, Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas, the Monetary Authority of Singapore, and Reserve Bank of India on June 30, in Basel, Switzerland, the RBI said in a statement. The platform, which can be extended to more countries, is expected to go live by 2026.

Firstcry, Unicommerce, 2 others get nod for IPOs

BENN KOCHUVEEDAN @ Mumbai

BRAINBEES SOLUTIONS, parent company of e-commerce platform Firstcry which hawks babies' and kids products, Snapdeal-owned Unicommerce eSolutions and two other companies have received the regulatory approvals for IPOs.

The other two are Interarch Building Products, and Gala Precision Engineering. Firstcry has received observation letter from the Sebi on June 25. It had filed the DRHP in April.

Brainbees' IPO is a mix of fresh issuance of shares worth ₹1,816 crore, and an offer-for-sale of 5,43,91,592 equity shares by existing shareholders, the company said in a statement without revealing the OFS size.

SVF Frog (Cayman), Apricot Investments, Mahindra & Mahindra, Valiant Mauritius Partners, PI Opportunities fund, TIMF Holdings (Mauritius), TPG Growth Markets, Think India Opportunities master fund (Cayman), NewQuest Asia Investments, and Schroders Capital Private Equity Asia Mauritius are the selling shareholders in the Brainbees issue.

Of this, SVF Frog and M&M are major shareholders with 25.53% and 10.97% stakes, respectively. Unicommerce eSolutions, Interarch Building Products, and Gala Precision Engineering have said they received Sebi's observation letters on June 28. Snapdeal-owned SaaS firm Unicommerce eSolutions, which had filed DRHP in January, is an OFS and doesn't have fresh issue and has not revealed the issue size as price is not set yet. Existing shareholders are selling 2.98 million shares.

The OFS comprises of 1,14,59,840 share sale by AceVector (formerly known as Snapdeal), 22,10,406 by B2 Capital Partners, and 1,61,70,240 by SB Investment Holdings.

Interarch Building Products had filed draft papers in March and the issue will be mix of ₹200 crore of fresh issue and an OFS of 44.5 lakh shares by the promoter group and investor-selling shareholders. Arvind Nanda, Gautam Suri, Ishaan Suri, Shobhna Suri, and OIH Mauritius are the selling shareholders. Maharashtra-based Gala Precision Engineering, which had filed draft papers in February, issue is mix of fresh issue (25,58,416 shares), and an offer-for-sale (6,16,000 shares) by the existing shareholders.

Govt to create dedicated auction window for long-term coal linkages

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

THE coal ministry plans to create a dedicated auction window for long-term coal linkages, specifically for the non-regulated sector. This window will allow industries such as steel, cement, and others, to bid for coal without restrictions on its end use. Currently, the coal order is placed under the Shakti Policy, which caters to the power sector's coal requirements.

For the non-regulated sector such as steel, cement, and fertilizer, it dictates the end use of the coal auction policy. Therefore, the government is planning to provide long-term supplies to these segments.

According to the ministry officials, the new auction window will reduce coal imports and enable small businesses, washeries, aggregators, and traders to secure long-term supplies. Currently, the only available window is the e-auction window for small or medium consumers, which offers limited quantities and is unreliable for long-term needs, forcing these sectors to rely on imports. "This is why we are introducing a separate window for long-term linkages," said the official. "We will soon send the draft for cabinet approval.

The official emphasised that the government is determined to reduce coal imports, as domestic production can meet the growing demand.

According to the ministry data, in FY24, the country imported 261 million tonne of coal, of which 65.73 million tonne were used for power generation, an 18.15% rise from the previous fiscal. The official noted that imported coal is expensive, with the Indonesian coal grade (ICI 5) costing ₹5,198 per tonne, while the equivalent Indian coal (G14) produced by Coal India Ltd costs ₹1,600 per tonne. Similar price disparities exist for higher grades, with the ICI 1 Indonesian grade costing ₹12,620 per tonne (including insurance and freight), compared to the equivalent Indian G3 grade at ₹4,900 per tonne (including taxes and other charges).

Air India to set up flying institute at Amravati

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

TATA GROUP-run Air India said on Monday it is setting up South Asia's largest Flying Training Organisation (FTO) at Amravati in Maharashtra as part of an initiative by the Maharashtra Airport Development Company (MADC). The DGCA-licensed FTO at Amravati's Belora airport will be operational by Q1FY26 and will target to graduate 180 commercial pilots every year, it said.

The Air India FTO will have 31 single-engine aircraft and 3 twin-engine aircraft for training. Air India has been awarded a tender by the MADC to establish and operate the FTO for a period of 30 years.

Campbell Wilson, MD & CEO, Air India, said: "The FTO at Amravati will be a significant step towards making Indian aviation more self-reliant and offering more opportunities to the youth in India to fulfill their ambitions of flying as pilots."

Swati Pandey, Vice Chairman & MD at MADC, said, "This collaborative initiative between MADC and Air India will not only boost the economy of Maharashtra by focusing on over 3,000 new employment opportunities within the aviation sector, but also create employment in multifarious allied activities in skilling, technical and small entrepreneurial ventures culminating in an impressive contribution of over Rs 1,000 crore to the state's GDP over the next decade."

The setting up of the FTO comes as industry projections states that there may be a need for 1000 pilots per annum in India over the next five years. The annual requirement of commercial pilots depends upon various factors such as financial health of an airline, airline expansion plan and growth in the aviation sector. Domestic airlines are expected to receive over 1,600 planes in the coming years, with the fleet size of Indian airlines projected to reach 1,500 to 2,000 by 2030.

19-kg cylinder price cut ₹30, ATF up 1.2%

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

OIL marketing companies raised aviation turbine fuel (ATF) prices by 1.2% on Monday while reducing prices for commercial 19 kg LPG cylinders.

As per the latest price notification, commercial cylinders used by hotels and restaurants will now cost ₹1,646 per 19-kg cylinder in Delhi. The ATF price was hiked by ₹1,179.37 per kilolitre to ₹96,148.38 per kl in the national capital, following a 6.5% (₹6,673.87 per kl) reduction on June 1. In Mumbai, the ATF rate rose to ₹89,908.30 per kl from ₹88,834.27.

This marks the fourth consecutive monthly reduction in rates for commercial cylinders. The price was last decreased by ₹69 per cylinder on June 1, following reductions of ₹19 per cylinder on May 1 and ₹30.5 on April 1. The price of cooking gas used in domestic households remained unchanged at ₹803 per 14.2-kg cylinder.

LEGAL MATTER

Whistleblower blows lid off fraud on court by Parsi bizman

BENN KOCHUVEEDAN @ Mumbai

FEW today would have heard of Framroz Edulji Dinshaw, a prominent Parsi financer who had lent a royal sum of ₹2 crore to the Tatas way back in the 1920s, at a time when Bombay was being built on the seven marshy islands that are homing the present megapolis. The story of how that loan got converted into a 12.5% shares of Tata Sons, which is worth about $200 billion now, and which ultimately landed in the hands of the Pallonji Mistry family, is not known to most. That secret is likely to be revealed by the public interest litigation (PIL) filed by Abhinav Bharat Congress, a think-tank led by Pankaj Phadnis who's a public policy activist and the son of a district judge.

The plea, filed in November 2022, is a public interest disclosure under the Whistleblower Protection Act, 2011. The PIL, heard by Bombay HC chief justice Bharati Dangre and Justice Sarang Kotwal on June 14, 2024, alleges multiple frauds were played on the HC by fellow Parsi industrialist Nusli Wadia, who was appointed the Indian administrator of the New York-based Dinshaw Trust by the HC on December 27, 1972.

As per the PIL, the most egregious fraud was played on justices DY Chandrachud (the present Chief Justice of India), and AP Shah on July 29, 2003, while they were the judges of the Bombay HC. The fraud was the hiding of the fact that the Supreme Court had a few days before nullified the validity of Section 118 of the Indian Succession Act. Because Section 118 of the Act was a pivotal issue in the appeal filed by the New York-based American Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, and the Salvation Army, New York, and was pending before the HC. The said appeal was withdrawn without informing the court that Section 118 was stuck down by the Supreme Court on July 21, 2003. In those days when the Internet was in its infancy, the judges had to depend on lawyers to keep them abreast of legal developments elsewhere. In this case, one of the lawyers was Ramrao Adik, the then advocate general of Maharashtra, who ought to have known better than hiding such an important fact.

This resulted in misappropriation of about ₹10,000 crore (₹9,996 crore) of the Dinshaw Trust and the intended beneficiaries were the above-cited American public charities, which were to use a part of the money for the welfare of cows here.

The Dinshaw Trust jointly owns 2,500 acres in northern Mumbai and 1,000 acres are being developed under a 1995 pact with the Rahejas under which the developer was to deposit 12% of sales proceeds of each unit into a special account.

Phadnis, who was negotiating with the Rahejas on behalf of the Wadias to ensure the trust got its 12% share from commercial development of its land, found while the developer was depositing the money into the special account, the administrator (Wadia) was diverting the money into his personal account. Knowing this Phadnis resigned his job with the Wadias in 2008 and legally recover the money for public causes.

Following this petitioner, Phadnis approached the Tatas and group chairman emeritus Ratan Tata supported the efforts during 2017-19 to do the needful. But the Tata Group abruptly backed out after N Chandrasekaran became the chairman. Following this, Phadnis filed law suits in New York. Even summons were issued against Tata International but issues of jurisdiction prevailed.

This forced Phadnis to move the SC seeking a SFIO, ED and the EoW of the Mumbai Police probes and to file a complaint against Wadia. Instead the Supreme Court asked Phadnis to approach the Bombay HC. The plea asks if 9% shares of Tata Sons, plus 3% shares of ACC (once owned by the Trust) and 1.82 crore sqft of built-up area spread over 1,000 acres space in Mumbai, one of the costliest realty markets in the world, is only worth ₹3.79 crore, even as of August 1, 2003!

The HC's chief justice Devendra Upadhyaya on June 14, 2024, constituted a special two-judge bench of justices Bharati Dangre and Sarang Kotwal, to expeditiously hear the matter. The court also asked the EoW to brief the court about the findings in their preliminary enquiry registered on May 23, 2024 and posted the net hearing on July 26.

Crypto industry seeks conducive tax environment

UMA KANNAN @ Bengaluru

THE first half of this year was a significant one for the crypto industry -- Bitcoin touched its peak of over $73,000 in March, Bitcoin Halving, US SEC granted approval for spot Bitcoin ETFs. All these have driven increased trading activity in the Indian crypto market, and crypto exchanges hope that the upcoming Budget will create a conducive regulatory and tax environment.

"The current taxation framework for virtual digital assets (VDAs), introduced over two years ago in February 2022, has led to unintended consequences even for the government and the exchequer, mainly via a shift in VDA transactions to offshore platforms, impacting tracking and tracing of such transactions. We believe with a new government in place, and to capitalise on India's Web3 opportunity, a relook at the tax treatment on virtual digital assets in the July 2024 Union Budget will be very timely," said Ashish Singhal, co-founder, CoinSwitch.

The exchanges have been seeking to lower the rate of TDS on transfer of virtual digital assets from 1% to 0.01%. "Allow the offset of losses similar to other sectors to encourage responsible trading practices and reduce the risk of tax evasion. Re-examine the flat rate of 30% applicable to income from the transfer of virtual digital assets to ensure parity with other tech-enabled sectors," Singhal added.

Raj Karkara, chief operating officer, ZebPay, said regulatory clarity is one of the most crucial steps towards creating a secure and transparent investment ecosystem for all stakeholders.

Indian cricketers remain stranded in Barbados

The victorious Indian cricket team remains stranded in Barbados after a Category 4 hurricane hit the Caribbean islands in Barbados in the wee hours of Monday, delaying its departure back home by at least another day. The team has stayed put in a five-star hotel since its triumph over South Africa in the T20 World Cup final. As per the forecast, life-threatening winds and storm lashed Barbados and nearby islands on Monday.

BUMRAH MAGIC IN BISHOP'S WORDS

The pacer was one of the key architects of India's title triumph. Gomesh S talks to former WI pacer to understand what makes him special....

JASPRIT Bumrah, who took 15 wickets at an average of 8.26 while his economy was an unbelievable 4.17, was the Player of the Tournament in India's title-winning campaign at the recently-concluded 2024 Men's T20 World Cup. In a conversation with this daily, former West Indies legend and commentator Ian Bishop delves deep into his admiration for Bumrah and what makes the Indian pacer special and more. Excerpts...

• On his last spell in final

He is a genius with the ball in hand. So often we attribute that characteristic to batters in the game of cricket. But Bumrah is magic, a generational talent, and the thing that strikes me is his ability to do it across formats. His control of his length combined with his line is one compartment. His ability to choose when to bowl his variation and land it accurately. The third is something that has always impressed me about him is that just his ability to know when to bowl what. You could sense that in those two overs, he was going to change the game and he did.

• On his T20 WC figures

It is mind-blowing, but at the same time, it's inspiring because it gives this generation something to aim for. They see what excellence is live and direct and upfront in our face. And those numbers speak to a couple of things. His unrelenting accuracy, his ability to have a full package of variation, the yorker, the short ball, the slow ball, the cutter and to deliver it at important times. So we can look at the bowling mandate of this WC which has been with not a century scored in the tournament in the modern T20 game is mind-blowing. But his economy rate there says that here's a guy who has earned his respect. I know from bowling with Curtly Ambrose and those guys on one side, they earn the respect of the opposition batters and then the batters look to come at the weaker bowler. But earning that respect comes through very good bowling over a sustained period of time. And Bumrah certainly has been doing that.

• On his variations

Let's start with the fact that when he uses the new ball in most conditions, he's got the prerequisite of a very upright seam. The delivery that got Reeza Hendricks, for example, was a beautiful outswinger cum leg cutter. The upright seam that hits the pitch and decks away or straighten. So he's got that ability to swing the ball as well as to seam the ball, which will serve him well and has served him well across formats. His ability to hit that length and then to Marco Jansen, the one that comes back between the gates is the opposite sort of variation. And we've heard Jasprit talk about he choose when to stump hunting or pole hunting as he will bowl a straight yorker or he will go for a wide yorker. And you can't just be onto the front foot against him because he's got that short ball to keep you honest. I mean (laughs), listen, I know there's a lot of people out there who appreciate this guy. I know that for a fact. And I keep saying it, we still have to continue to appreciate him. He won't be around forever. And his teachings... even for someone who's been around this game, how long have I been around for now? 40 years? He's still mind-blowing.

• On his ability to plan for different batters

All the components we talked about before are important. The ability to move the ball laterally, the ability to have those change ups, the short ball, the cutter, the slower ball. He doesn't have a knuckle ball. I've never seen him bowl a knuckle ball. I don't think he bowls the leg cutter often where he rolls his fingers to the other side of the ball. So those things I'm sure he'll add to his skill set later on, but he's patient as well. I want to emphasise patience here because having acquired all the skills of accuracy, the ability to swing and seam the ball, the yorker, the bouncer, I mean, the full package. You'll hear him say this, he doesn't overdo hunting wickets, not in this format. He chooses his moments. I think to your question, this is very key to almost be ahead of the batter in understanding what a batter will be trying to do and being able to stay ahead and counter that. And that is a feel thing. Through experience, you just get a sense as a bowler as you're walking back to your mark. This is the situation of the game. This is what the batting team needs to be done and this is what that batter might try to do. So I am going to bowl against this plan and I think Bumrah does that to perfection.

Ian Bishop

• On batters playing him out in T20s

Well, that's where he's earned the respect, right? He has earned that respect, but it's not false in that sometimes you can see an opposition player paid too much respect to a player. Let's say for a bowler where he gets a bad ball and you don't put it away because you're trying to be so secure. Bumrah has that. He's demanded that, but on the other side, he very rarely gives you that bad ball. I'm sure Heinrich Klaasen and David Miller would have wanted to squeeze something out of him Saturday. But even when he bowls that full toss because of the unusual nature of his action where he releases the ball a little further ahead of most other bowlers and his wrist work, which is totally legal, it is so acute. And people overlook that flick of the wrist, that last flick of the wrist, the locking of it and the unlocking of it is something that is more extreme in his bowling than many of us to give you that extra half a yard of pace. Guys miss out on a full toss him because it's on to you so quickly. And then, you talk about the hard length. You can't play the horizontal bat shot and you can't hit it on the ground. So, this is a guy at the peak of his powers. I'll say it again. We have to appreciate him.

• On his mindset & taking on batters who did well against him in past

(Laughs) No, he remembers. That is just Jasprit, he remembers. The best fast bowlers have memories like elephants. And that's a key part of the art form. In remembering the strength and weakness of a player. Of course, you've got the video analysts but Bumrah in the back of his mind will know where Klaasen was strong or weak, where Miller has been strong and weak and operate in those areas. And when he says one ball at a time, he's saying, 'I'm not getting too far ahead of myself'. Now, what I'm gonna say is contradictory, right? Contradictory in this sense, you don't want to get too far ahead of yourself. But Bumrah also knows that wicket-taking in any format of the game is not in isolation. It is a sequence of deliveries. Go back to the Hendricks dismissal. I said the ball to Quinton de Kock swung and seamed. It was seam up and swung. It would have been a good ball to a right hander. On that occasion, it wasn't a great delivery, but that gave information that once the right hander came on strike if I make a subtle adjustment, the end result is exactly what happened to Hendricks. Great fast bowlers, and I would classify Bumrah in that, are able to know when to stay in the moment. But also a lot of pacers I've interacted with and my own experiences, we rush it. We think wicket every ball. It doesn't happen like that. In some formats, it takes longer than others.

• On his astute knowledge of the craft & execution

I was talking to Rohit Sharma at the post-match presentation. His answer was self explanatory. But do we need to give him a title now? There's still a bit of time yet. History will award him his due place in the pantheon of great fast bowlers across formats. What I think we need to do, we show him appreciation. You and I have been talking. I know millions of people across India and across the world give him the appreciation. It is to ensure that his knowledge and while he's at the peak of his powers, his execution is not missed by the next generation.

When I say, award him a PhD, I'm not joking about that. I'm not taking that lightly. What I'm saying is the guy is so articulate and such a great communicator of his skill set that the upcoming generation and even those alongside him, like Arshdeep Singh and Mohammed Siraj and all of those guys, can expedite their learning curve just by interacting. As I'm sure Arshdeep and Siraj have done and then building their own DNA into that framework. I've played underneath in the sense that coming after some great fast bowlers, right? So I'm speaking from experience. If we don't formally utilise the skills of these great players and that can extend to Rohit and Virat Kohli, etc., we would have wasted another chance to push the game further forward.

BCCI cash reward includes coaches & selectors

CHENNAI: As the BCCI announced that Indian team that won the 2024 Men's T20 World Cup will get a cash reward of ₹125 crores, secretary Jay Shah has confirmed that the prize money is not just for the players but also coaches, support staff and selectors. "We last won the title in 2007 and won it after nearly 17 years. The decision of the prize money was collectively taken by the BCCI office bearers. As far as ₹125 crore is concerned, it will cover the players, support staff, coaches and selectors as well," Shah told reporters in Barbados."The way this team is progressing, our next target is to win WTC final and Champions Trophy," he added. - Gomesh S

France edge Belgium to reach last eight

AGENCIES @ Dusseldorf

JAN Vertonghen's late own goal took France into the quarterfinals of Euro 2024 on Monday as they edged Belgium 1-0 in a tense tie in Duesseldorf. France had dominated the last-16 clash but their profligate finishing looked set to force extra time until they finally found a way through with five minutes left.

Substitute Randal Kolo Muani collected the ball inside the Belgian penalty area and hit a shot that was going wide until a deflection off the unfortunate Vertonghen took it past goalkeeper Koen Casteels. The lucky break sent the 2022 World Cup runners-up into a last-eight tie in Hamburg on Friday as they remain on course to become European champions for the third time. France are yet to score from open play in four matches at the tournament - captain Kylian Mbappe netted once from a penalty against Poland, while their other two goals came from opposition defenders.

Results: Sunday: Spain 4-1 Georgia; Monday: France 1-0 Belgium

SPAIN SET UP CLASH WITH GERMANY

COLOGNE: Late on Sunday, Spain recovered from conceding an early own-goal to beat Georgia 4-1 for a spot in the quarterfinals, ending one of the tournament's most compelling underdog stories. Goals from midfielders Rodri and Fabian Ruiz brought Spain back into the game after Robin Le Normand's own-goal in the 18th minute had given Georgia a shock lead.

Defending champ Alcaraz sees off qualifier in opener

AGENCIES @ London

CARLOS Alcaraz made a stumbling start to his Wimbledon title defence on Monday before coming through in straight sets against Estonian qualifier Mark Lajal. The Spanish third seed was taken to a tie-break in the opening set and trailed 2-0 against his unheralded opponent in the second but held his nerve to win 7-6 (3), 7-5, 6-2.

Alcaraz, still only 21, is chasing his fourth Grand Slam title and hopes to become just the sixth man after Rod Laver, Bjorn Borg, Roger Federer, Rafael Nadal and Novak Djokovic to win the French Open and Wimbledon back-to-back.

He came into the match short of practice on grass after making an early exit from Queen's, where he was also the defending champion.

Earlier, Russian fifth seed Daniil Medvedev reached the second round. Medvedev, a semi-finalist last year, hit 16 aces in his 6-3, 6-4, 6-2 win over Aleksandar Kovacevic of the United States.

'Heartbroken' Sabalenka

Australian Open champion and World No 3 Aryna Sabalenka said she was "heartbroken" to have withdrawn from Wimbledon due to a shoulder injury. "Heartbroken to have to tell you all that I won't be able to play The Championships this year," 26-year-old Sabalenka wrote on X.

Former World No 1 Naomi Osaka claimed her first win at Wimbledon since 2018 when she recovered from a break down in the final set to defeat Diane Parry of France. Osaka won 6-1, 1-6, 6-4.

Ecuador seal Copa quarterfinal berth

AGENCIES @ Austin

ECUADOR ground out a nerve-jangling 0-0 draw with Mexico to book their place in the quarterfinals of the Copa America on Sunday as Venezuela sealed top spot in Group B with a 3-0 win over Jamaica.

Ecuador, needing only a point against Mexico in Glendale, Arizona to advance on goal difference, withstood a furious late onslaught from 'El Tri' to reach the last eight.

Mexico launched wave after wave of attacks in the final quarter, with Johan Vasquez forcing a save from Ecuador goalkeeper Alexander Dominguez in the 71st minute, six minutes after Santiago Gimenez struck the post with a shot from close range.

Ecuador will now face Group A winners Argentina in the quarterfinals in Houston on Thursday.

Venezuela, meanwhile, will take on Group A runners-up Canada in Arlington on Friday as they chase a place in the semifinals.

The Venezuelans, who were already assured of a quarterfinal place after wins over Ecuador and Mexico, preserved their 100% record against winless Jamaica.

Gukesh to challenge Liren for world title in Singapore

AGENCIES @ New Delhi

INDIA'S efforts to secure a home World Championships match for D Gukesh came to nought with Singapore pipping Delhi and Chennai to claim hosting rights for the premier chess contest which will pit the youngest challenger in the history against defending champion Ding Liren from China.

The Tamil Nadu government and All India Chess Federation had submitted separate bids to FIDE, the world chess body. The match, which will offer a prize money of $2.5 million, will be held between November 20 and December 15.

"After reviewing the bids and inspecting all potential host cities for their venues, amenities, event programs, and opportunities, the International Chess Federation has selected Singapore as the host of the World Championship Match," FIDE said in a release.

DUNKIRK is a harbour located in North France, on the shores of the English Channel, that separates the United Kingdom from mainland Europe. An industrial town now, the place was sold to the French by Charles II in 1662. But that's not what this place is known for. Dunkirk became a noun much later, during the Second World War. In May and June of 1940, to be precise, when Allied forces retreated to Dunkirk to get evacuated surrounded by German troops. Codenamed Operation Dynamo was a success. Then UK Prime Minister, Winston Churchill, called it a "miracle of deliverance" in his famous "We shall fight on the beaches" speech. Since then, Merriam-Webster defines Dunkirk (noun) as a retreat to avoid total defeat or a crisis situation that requires a desperate last effort to forestall certain failures.

If you look at the final result of the Test match between South Africa and India in Chennai alone, which the home side won on the fourth and final day by ten wickets, you would probably assume it was a business as usual. A dominant Indian side under the leadership of Harmanpreet Kaur had already beaten the likes of England and Australia in the recent past without much fuss. And a win without losing a single wicket sounds as dominating as it could get. But the devil, as they say, lies in the details.

Indian team celebrates after winning the Test against South Africa | PRAVIKUMAR

After India posted a mountain of 603 runs in the first innings, which India clearly did so they did not have to bat twice on the tricky pitch that would put a lot of pressure on batters as the match progressed, South Africa had their work cut out for them. The only aim was to bat till they were bowled out. Their efforts in the first innings were monumental, no doubt about that, but that did not help South Africa avoid the follow on. India were 337 runs ahead and always going to force the follow on. It was the first chance for Kaur to directly assert her team's attacking mindset, and she took it with both hands. Afterall her bowlers, specially Sneh Rana and Deepti Sharma had bamboozled the visitors on day 3 morning. For South Africa, survival was not just the aim, it had become a necessity.

Brief scores: India 603/6 decl & 37/0 in 9.2 ovs bt South Africa 266 & 373 in 154.4 ovs (Wolvaardt 122, Luus 109, de Klerk 61; Sneh 2/111, Deepti 2/95, Rajeshwari 2/55).

TRANSCATHETER AORTIC VALVE REPLACEMENT

NON-SURGICAL ALTERNATIVE TO REPLACE FAULTY HEART VALVE

UNNIKRISHNAN S @ TPuram

RAJAN Thomas, a 70-year-old resident of Alappuzha, was often experiencing increased fatigue, shortness of breath, chest pain, and occasional dizziness. Initially, he thought his condition had something to do with the impact of Covid-19 infection he had two years ago. However, when he met his physician, the true cause was revealed when the doctor placed a stethoscope on Rajan's chest—there was an unmistakable heart murmur indicative of an underlying heart valve condition. If all four of his heart valves had been functioning properly, there would have been no murmur, only the clear sound of a healthy heartbeat.

Rajan was subsequently referred to a cardiologist who recommended further tests (echocardiogram, electrocardiogram, chest X-ray, CT scan), confirming that Rajan's problematic heart valve was the root cause of his symptoms. Specifically, his aortic valve, positioned between the left lower heart chamber and the body's main artery, had narrowed and was not opening fully, thus affecting blood flow through the heart.

A malfunctioning valve places additional strain on the heart which has to pump harder to adequately supply blood to the rest of the body, particularly the brain. If left untreated, this condition can lead to serious complications such as blood clots, heart failure, stroke, cardiac arrest, or even death.

Upon learning of his condition, Rajan, classified as an intermediate-risk patient, was presented with two treatment options for replacing his aortic valve: Surgical aortic valve replacement (SAVR), which involves open-heart surgery, and transcatheter aortic valve replacement (TAVR), a less invasive non-surgical procedure. SAVR, although cheaper, carries higher risks compared to TAVR. After discussions with his family members, Rajan opted for TAVR.

Less chances of complications

According to cardiologists TAVR has changed the way heart valve replacements are done and has saved lives of high risk patients. "Clinical trials and real-world data have shown that TAVR has been associated with lower rates of complications such as stroke and bleeding with significant improvements in symptoms and overall quality of life," said Dr G Sengottuvelu, clinical lead, structural heart programme, Apollo Group of Hospitals.

In TAVR a replacement valve is inserted via a catheter into the heart, typically through an artery in the groin or chest. A collapsible replacement valve (biological valve made from animal tissue) is placed into position within the diseased aortic valve. Once expanded, the new valve takes over the function of the old, damaged valve. The defective valve gets crushed against the wall of the aorta. It takes 3-4 hours to complete the procedure. Patients in the high risk category are put on a ventilator before the procedure, while it can be managed with general anaesthesia for those in the less risk category.

"Earlier, a risky open chest surgery was the only option for patients with calcified aortic valves. It cannot be performed on people who are in the high risk category and they used to die of complications. People with lung diseases, renal failures and aged above 80 are at high risk of complications from open-heart surgery. The procedure is helpful even in intermediate risk groups as well," said Dr Harikrishnan S, professor and interventional cardiologist at Sree Chitra Tirunal Institute for Medical Sciences and Technology, Thiruvananthapuram.

Degenerative aortic stenosis, characterised by gradual narrowing of valves, is commonly observed in elderly individuals like Rajan. Dr Harikrishnan pointed out that the procedure is common in metros and a state-like metro where the longevity is high. Cholesterol deposition is also a factor. People born with two flaps instead of the normal three have a greater chance of developing aortic valve problems, he added.

400-500 TAVRs performed every month

"Degenerative aortic stenosis (AS) is now becoming common. It has the same risk factors as of coronary heart disease (like heart attack). The treatment for severe AS is aortic valve replacement," said Dr Mathew Iype, professor of cardiology, Government Medical College, Thiruvananthapuram. "TAVR can be done in high risk patients. That is the beauty of TAVR. Patients can be mobilised on the second day of the procedure which again is good for the patient. The longer the patient is in the hospital, the higher the risks of venous thrombosis of legs and hospital acquired infections, etc," he added.

One size does not fit all

TAVR still comes with challenges. As it cannot be performed on all patients, cardiologists need to perform more tests such as angiogram to assess the suitability for TAVR. "One main problem of TAVR is the requirement for a good sized leg artery through which the device has to be taken to the heart. If there is such a problem, an alternative now available is the carotid artery (in the neck)," said Dr Iype.

Doctors use two types of valves - one is biological (made from animal tissue or from human donor tissue) and the other is mechanical (made of metal or plastic). The tissue valve is used for patients above the age of 65. These valves tend to wear out after 10-15 years. The mechanical valve offers longer protection, but has higher chances for heart infection and blood clots, which need to be addressed through medication.

The valve usually comes in 20-30 mm sizes. A series of tests are performed to determine the size required. The tests can also reveal if the patient requires a pacemaker to ensure proper conduction of electricity in the heart. According to Dr Harikrishnan, around 7% of patients require a pacemaker.

Improvements in valve design

Advancements in TAVR technology continue to offer hope to patients with smaller-sized leg arteries, as manufacturers are developing smaller valves capable of passing through narrower blood vessels. Additionally, valve-in-valve procedures are available to address calcification of previously replaced valves, thereby avoiding riskier repeat surgeries.

According to Dr Sengottuvelu, who is one of the pioneers of TAVR programme in the country, newer advancements including better valve designs, delivery systems, and imaging techniques have enhanced the safety and efficacy of the procedure. "When we started TAVR in 2015, only one (type of) valve was available and we had to get an import licence and import the valve which takes weeks to arrive. Today we have 7-8 types of TAVR valves available on our shelves and can plan TAVR within hours. We were involved from early trials of indigenously developed India-made MyVal which has now shown to have excellent results compared to available western transcatheter valves."

MyVal has also helped to reduce the cost of the procedure which usually ranges from ₹15 lakh - ₹25 lakh depending on the valve. Although TAVR can be expensive, the overall cost may be offset by reduced hospital stays and quicker recovery times, leading to lower long-term healthcare costs. Studies have shown that TAVR can be a cost-effective treatment option, especially when considering the quality of life improvements.

PHACOEMULSIFICATION

'Every surgical procedure carries a small margin of risk'

Phacoemulsification is a modern cataract surgery technique that uses ultrasonic energy to break up and remove the eye's internal lens. Dr Supriya Sriganesh, executive director, Nethradhama Super Speciality Eye Hospital, Bengaluru, explains that the complication rate for phacoemulsification in modern day surgery is very low, in an interview with Rishita Khanna. Edited excerpts:

● Explain the process of phacoemulsification in cataract surgery

Phacoemulsification technique employs ultrasound energy in the form of high frequency sound waves, to emulsify (break-up) the nucleus of the clouded lens (cataract) into a gelatinous mass. The mass is then suctioned out of the eye with a vacuum (aspiration). The procedure is completed by replacing the cataract with an IOL (intraocular lens).

● What steps are involved in aspirating the emulsified lens from the eye?

The steps involved in aspirating the emulsified lens from the eye are using a phaco probe to chop the lens into multiple smaller pieces and using phaco energy to break up these pieces of the lens into micro fragments, which can then be sucked out of the eye using vacuum.

● What are the potential complications from this procedure?

The complication rate for phacoemulsification in modern day surgery is very low. However, every surgical procedure carries a small margin of risk. Complications occur more often when the cataract has been left untreated for too long and has either become very dense or mature. Complications arise when the support around the cataract becomes weak and the lens cannot be placed in an ideal position. There are alternatives to manage such cases using special lenses. Other complications like post-operative infection happen rarely and only in cases where adequate care and precautions are not taken after the cataract surgery.

INTERVIEW
DR SUPRIYA SRIGANESH

● What pre-operative assessments are necessary to determine if phacoemulsification is suitable for a patient?

Usually, most cases of cataract are suitable for phacoemulsification. Only in certain cases, where the cataract is extremely dense or the structures around the lens are weak, phacoemulsification is not suitable. Pre-operatively, there are certain measurements taken to determine the power of the lens. The ophthalmologist examines the eye through a microscope, known as the slit lamp, grades the cataract and sees whether the structures around the lens are strong enough for surgery.

● How long is the typical recovery period after the procedure?

Typically, the recovery time for patients is one week after undergoing phacoemulsification. The patient is recommended to refrain from touching or rubbing their eyes or allowing water to go directly into their eyes. Patients cannot have a head bath for about one week after a cataract surgery. Eye drops and dark glasses are provided for a few weeks after the surgery. However, the visual recovery requires just 2-3 days, after which patients can see everything very clearly.

Bharatanatyam dancer and daughter of former Chief Minister M Veerappa Moily, Hamsa Moily, passed away on Sunday, leaving a void in the classical dance community

IN MEMORY

MEGHA MANOJ

Gone too soon

MULTI-TALENTED, creative, unto herself, and humble... this is how the dance fraternity remembers Bharatanatyam dancer Hamsa Moily, who passed away on Sunday, after a prolonged illness. Moily (46), the daughter of veteran Congress leader M Veerappa Moily, was loved by all.

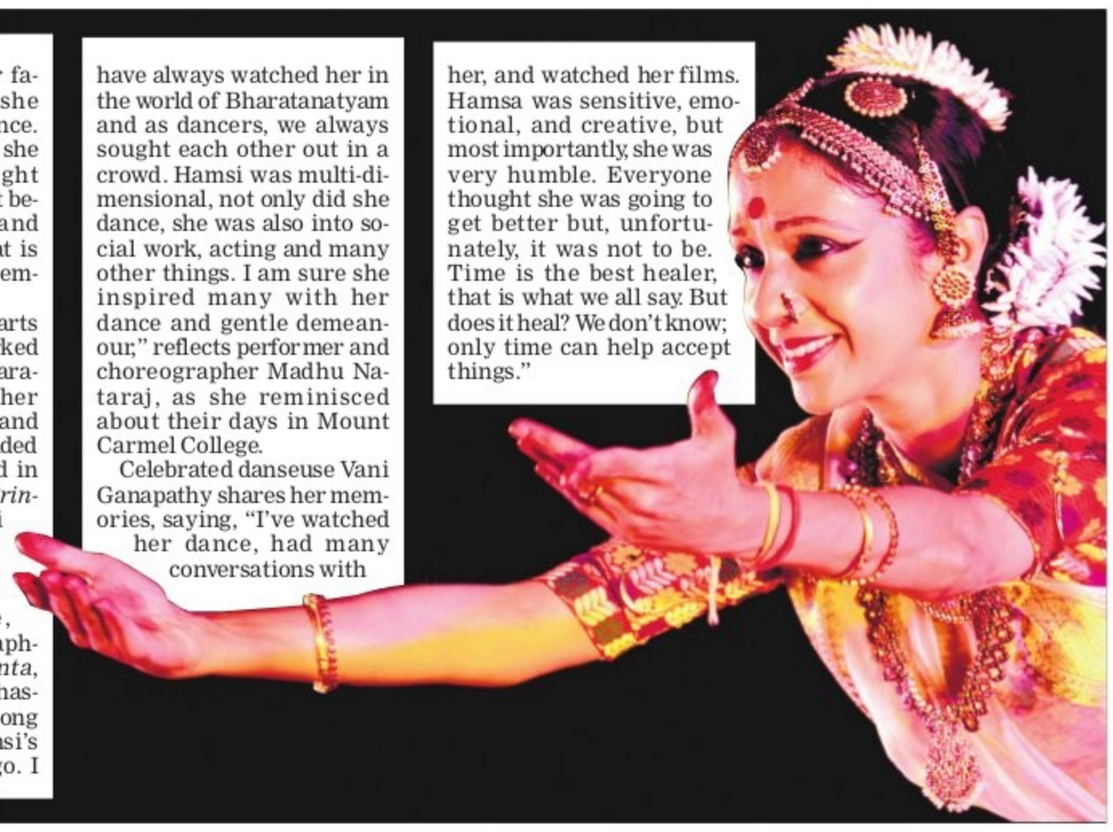
"Hamsi, as we called her, was a good dancer who worked very hard. I knew her from a very young age, when she first started learning dance. She was extremely dignified and sweet-tempered, never getting involved in the politics of dance, only focusing on her own practice and performances. No one had any acrimony or dispute with her. In fact, all of us thought she would have a great career in the dance field. Her passing due to cancer is tragic," shares acclaimed dancer Prathibha Prahlad.

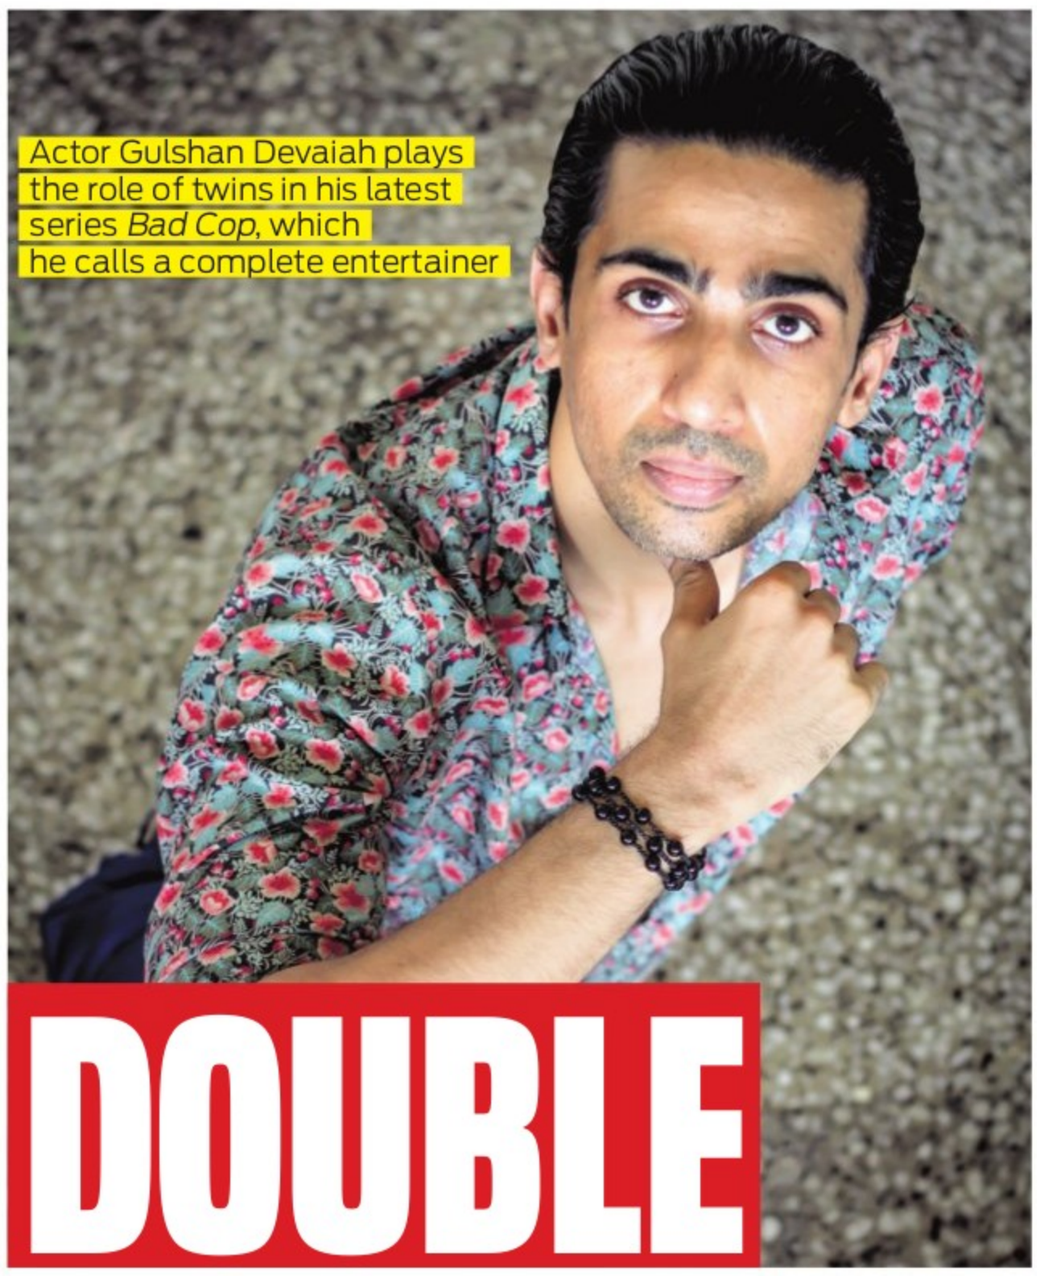
Moily's guru Padmini Ravi recalls her student exploring ideas beyond the traditional format. Having known her from close quarters, Ravi points to Moily's curious nature which led her to explore other creative pursuits, theatre and films. "She did some excellent plays with MS Sathyu, and also collaborated with Yakshakana artistes. She would take excerpts from her father's writings which she would translate into dance. Despite her background, she never threw her weight around. She always went beyond what she learnt and what she knew, and that is how her peers will remember her," says Ravi.

Hamsa also did some excellent plays with MS Sathyu, and also collaborated with Yakshakana artistes. She would take excerpts from her father's writings which she would translate into dance - Padmini Ravi, Hamsa Moily's mentor

Moily's journey in the arts began early and was marked by her dedication to Bharatanatyam, which saw her perform both in India and abroad. Her talent extended beyond dance; she acted in the Tamil period film Sringaram – along with Aditi Rao Hydari – which depicted the lives of devadasis, and was involved in theatre, directing and choreographing plays such as Chinta, based on a story by Mahasweta Devi. "I had gone along with my mother for Hamsi's arangetram decades ago. I have always watched her in the world of Bharatanatyam and as dancers, we always sought each other out in a crowd. Hamsi was multi-dimensional, not only did she dance, she was also into social work, acting and many other things. I am sure she inspired many with her dance and gentle demeanour," reflects performer and choreographer Madhu Nataraj, as she reminisced about their days in Mount Carmel College.

Celebrated danseuse Vani Ganapathy shares her memories, saying, "I've watched her dance, had many conversations with her, and watched her films. Hamsa was sensitive, emotional, and creative, but most importantly, she was very humble. Everyone thought she was going to get better but, unfortunately, it was not to be. Time is the best healer, that is what we all say. But does it heal? We don't know; only time can help accept things."





DOUBLE TROUBLE

MONIKA MONALISA

GULSHAN Devaiah made his appearance on screen for the first time this year with the TV series, Bad Cop. If you haven't caught Devaiah's charming persona yet, then this one will make up for it for sure as you see him play a double role in the show, which also stars Harleen Sethi and Anurag Kashyap. It's an eight-episode series on Disney+ Hotstar, and new episodes will be out on Thursdays. "People have already started complaining about it. I look at it as a good thing because that means they've liked the two episodes and want more," says Devaiah.

The actor plays the role of twin brothers, Karan and Arjun. "It's typical Bollywood masala. In the '70s, there was this genre of movies called masala movies...every era has some version of it. Prakash Mehra and Manmohan Desai were the pioneers of this genre. It has a little bit of everything – comedy, drama, action, and everything else," says Devaiah.

The treatment of the story was completely the vision of Aditya Datt, the director of the show. "Aditya was upfront about what he wanted to make and it had to be done in an entertaining, cool, and stylish way. He enjoys designing action pieces. Of course, I had very able stuntmen but I also had to learn how to perform them," says Devaiah, about the all-round entertainer.

The last we saw him was as the quirky Chaar Cut Atmaram in Guns & Gulaabs. It's hard to miss his knack for picking unique cinematic characters. However, he credits the directors he works with for creating such characters. "Every storyteller has a certain sensibility, and that allows you some bandwidth. For instance, while working with a cinephile like Vasan Bala, the plot and characters will be influenced by the cinema that he likes. Similarly, Raj and DK create a world which gives scope to such cinematic characters. In Bad Cop, since the character is inspired by some of the '70s characters, I submitted to it," says Devaiah, who was clear that the idea was to have fun.

The show also has Kashyap, with whom Devaiah has worked previously. "He has only directed me once," says Devaiah. But this is the first time both are working together on screen. "I have known him since 2008 but there were not many chances to chat with him. So I got to do that this time. I enjoyed that more than actually sharing the screen with him," he says.

Being a movie actor, Devaiah didn't see much difference in adapting to the series format. "I don't see anything new over here. We are just going back to the old format. A lot of streaming networks abroad were already doing it. We are just returning to the good old days of TV format," he signs off.

FILM CITY ASPIRATIONS GET A BOOST

EXPRESS FEATURES

A long-awaited aspiration to establish a film city in Karnataka may soon be realised, as Chief Minister Siddaramaiah is resolute in honouring veteran Kannada actor Dr Rajkumar's vision of a film city dedicated to the Kannada film industry. Speaking at the inauguration of the Karnataka Producers Association's new building, the CM underscored the importance of nurturing the Kannada film industry. The event was attended by prominent personalities such as actors Shivarajkumar and Jaggesh, as well as officials from the Producers' Association and musician-actor Sadhu Kokila, who also serves as president of the Karnataka Chalanachitra Academy.

Actor Shivarajkumar with Chief Minister Siddaramaiah

Speaking with the media after the inauguration, Siddaramaiah said, "Our government has always supported the development of Kannada cinema. We are committed to fulfilling Dr Rajkumar's dream of a Film City in Karnataka. We will pursue development through private investment and the Private-Public Partnership model." The CM also reiterated his government's dedication to promoting high-quality Kannada cinema, with a potential state-owned OTT platform and assured steadfast support for Kannada films amidst industry challenges. "It's a new proposal, and we will consider it after careful evaluation," he affirmed.

Our government has always supported the development of Kannada cinema. We are committed to fulfilling Dr Rajkumar's dream of a Film City in Karnataka

Father-Daughter Duo Enter Book of Records

Visakh R J, a Project Management Professional (PMP) trainer, has been recognised as the trainer who has enabled the maximum number of students to pass the PMP exam across the world. In just six months, Visakh successfully guided 536 students to pass the PMP exam, underscoring his exceptional teaching methods and commitment to his students' success. The official confirmation of the record was published by India Book of Records on the 13th of June 2024.

Visakh has 15 years of experience in Project, Program & Portfolio Management & Consulting, with expertise in Manufacturing, Software Development, E-Commerce, and Consulting. He was previously a Senior Project Consultant at Ernst & Young (EY), one of the BIG 4 Consulting Firms.

His career began at Ingersoll Rand, where he worked as a Program Manager for New Product Development Projects. He later worked as a Program Manager for Business Operations at OLA Cabs and Taxi For Sure.

Visakh obtained his PMP certification at the young age of 24 and has delivered Project Management Trainings to over 10,000 students globally. He has delivered On-Site trainings for different corporate companies. He has also delivered sessions in training programs organized by I2P2M, headed by Adesh Jain, known as 'Bhishma Pitamah' of Project Management in India.

An alumnus of the National Institute of Technology, Calicut (NIT C), Visakh did his schooling at Sabarigiri School, Kollam and Arya Central School, Trivandrum. He predominantly works as a freelancer for Star Agile, headed by Narasimha Reddy, also an alumnus of NIT C. He is also associated with other institutes such as Mindcypress (Dubai), Get My Path, MIT SDE, Team Academy (Qatar), and various other institutes.

Visakh is also a semi-finalist in the reality show Paadam Namukku Paadam for music, where he received appreciation from K.S. Chitra for his immense talent and magical voice.

Last year, his daughter, young prodigy Apoorva V S astounded everyone by setting a record as the youngest and fastest kid to answer questions on the Ramayana. At just 3 years and 5 months old, she answered 100 questions on the Ramayana in 6 minutes 54 seconds.

Apoorva's mother, Surya, is a consistent academic topper and a 1st rank holder Gold medalist for both B.Sc and M.Sc Physics. She hails from Aymanam, Kottayam, and was the state topper for the 10th and 12th exams from Mount Carmel GHSS and Girideepam Bethany School, respectively. She was a semi-finalist in the public speaking reality show Vachakaraja hosted by Grand Master G.S. Pradeep on Surya TV and is also a winner of the reality show Mambazham hosted on Kairali TV. Surya was State Vice President of Akhila Kerala Balajana Sakhyam, Asia's largest student organisation.

As a couple, Visakh and Surya work for Artium as Music Trainers, with faculty heads including K.S. Chitra, Anant Vaidyanathan, and Sonu Nigam. They run an online coaching institute, Photosynthesis Academy, for academics. The couple's music mashup Tere Naina, Vellai Pookkal went viral some years back. They perform at various stages, including events, temple festivals, and all the events of the PLRWA (the Resident Association of Pai Layout). The family resides in Pai Layout, Bangalore, and Apoorva is studying at Kidzee.

I got my dream job after working hard during college. But I overthink, lack confidence, and find it hard to handle even a simple question. I go blank, and fear being thought of as dumb. Any advice?

It's common to feel this way in a new job, especially when you want to excel. This is the imposter syndrome where you underestimate your own abilities. Through this lens, the negatives become amplified, and positives are diminished.

Remember, companies do not hire people for no reason. Each day, note down something new you did, and write down three things you are grateful for. Try talking in front of a mirror and make eye contact with yourself, practicing what you will say in different situations.

ASK AN XPERT

Try to challenge your negative beliefs with objective criteria. Ask yourself whether someone has given you negative feedback or Are you creating this pressure from within? You will often find many mistaken beliefs and little in the way of facts. Focus on developing skills, and do not worry about others' opinions. Soon this too shall pass, and you will discover you are just as good as everyone else!

SALABHASANA LEGS ON FLOOR
(LOCUST POSE LEGS ON FLOOR)

This is a beginner-level pose and a variation of the base pose, Salabhasana (Locust Pose). In this pose, the student places their legs on the floor and raises only the torso, with the hands kept behind, parallel to each other. The difference between Locust Pose and Locust Pose Legs On Floor is the alignment of the legs. In Locust Pose, the legs are also raised, but in Locust Pose Legs On Floor, only the torso and arms are raised. The Ardha Salabhasana Head And Chest Raised is preparatory to this pose.

STEPS

- Start the practice by aligning on the mat in a prone position, Advasana (Reverse Corpse Pose), keeping the body relaxed.
- Keep your hands behind, close to the body, with the palms facing the ceiling. Stay here for a couple of breaths with the forehead rested on the mat.
- Inhale, keep your legs close to each other, and engage your knees. The lower body from the pelvic area is aligned on the mat.
- Simultaneously, lift your torso and the chin off the floor, keeping the head engaged. Extend your arms behind you, keeping them close to your body, with the palms facing each other. Exhale.
- Stay in this pose as per your body's capacity. The breath will be short due to chest constriction, but having breath awareness might help the student stay in the pose.
- There will be a tendency to hold your breath in this pose, which you should avoid. Breathe normally while doing the pose.
- Finally, slowly release the pose and relax in Makarasana (Crocodile Pose).

BENEFITS

- Stretches the quadriceps, hamstrings, psoas, ankles, and shin muscles.
- Strengthens the knees and lower back and keeps the spine flexible.
- Helps in toning the muscles, glutes, and thighs.
- Helps in burning belly fat.
- Strengthens the joints, core, lumbar spine, and enhances muscular flexibility.
- Helps in breathing, and tones the diaphragm.
- Stabilises and strengthens the entire body.
- Removes excess fat from around the hips, buttocks, core, legs, and chest.
- Removes the stiffness from the lower back, legs, and neck.
- Stimulates the autonomic nervous system, particularly the parasympathetic regions in the neck and pelvis.
- Stimulates the digestive organs and the thyroid glands.
- Increases blood circulation in the body.
- Calms the nervous system.
- Helps with resolving issues related to diabetes, thyroid imbalance, and osteoporosis.
- Helps with mild sciatica, constipation, and flatulence.
- Aids with irregular periods and the symptoms associated with them.
- Stimulates the Manipura (Solar Plexus), Swadhisthana (Sacral), Muladhara (Root), Vishuddha (Throat), and Anahata (Heart) Chakras.

LIMITATIONS

- Students who have injuries to their ankles, knees, hips, pelvis, rib cage, or shoulders, or have undergone recent surgery in any part of their body, should avoid this pose.
- Those who have severe sciatica, peptic ulcers, heart problems, or issues related to menstruation, have a prolapsed uterus, or are senior citizens, avoid this pose.

STYLISH COMFORT FOR YOGA

Practising yoga daily can be a challenge, but it's also an opportunity to blend comfort with style. As interest in yoga continues to grow, CE explores fashionable yet functional yoga outfits

SHREYA VERONICA

PERFORMING yoga and incorporating it into your daily routine can be quite a challenge. However, the rise of interest in yoga, globally, has made it even more prominent among people. With World Yoga Day recently having gone by, it is the perfect opportunity to learn new yoga asanas and understand the importance of practising them daily. This year, let's add a twist by discussing fashion while practising yoga. Yes, you heard that right! Many of us seek comfort in our yoga outfits, but we also want to look good. CE spoke with yoga experts about the ideal outfits for every asana.

Rina Hindocha, yoga and wellness coach, blends fashion with her yoga practice. She shares what's trending and fashionable for everyday yoga. "Yoga outfits can be enhanced by blending comfort with personal style while staying eco-conscious. You can mix and match traditional yoga wear with modern pieces made from sustainable fabrics. Incorporating natural handloom fabrics and adding unique accessories like a colourful headband, nose pin, or anklet can personalise your outfit and make it more vibrant," she says.

Comfortable wear

Emphasising the importance of comfort, Rina adds, "Comfort in yoga is crucial, and it can be achieved fashionably by choosing outfits made from breathable, eco-friendly fabrics. These should allow for a fitted yet relaxed attire that moves with you. Choose vibrant, natural colours that reflect your personality. Look for designs that combine functionality with style, such as high-waisted pants or wrap tops that provide support and are made from materials kind to your skin and the planet."

On staying trendy, she notes, "Trending yoga outfits include high-waisted leggings, cropped tops, and seamless sports bras that offer both support and style. Eco-friendly and sustainable fabrics are popular, reflecting a growing trend towards conscious fashion. Additionally, vibrant prints, earthy tones, and tie-dye patterns are in vogue, bringing a fresh and lively look to traditional yoga wear."

Practising yoga in style should always be a priority. Hindocha explains, "Practising yoga in style involves choosing outfits that make you feel confident, comfortable, and eco-conscious.

Accessorise with items like a yoga mat in gorgeous prints, made from natural biodegradable materials like cork or natural rubber. These mats not only benefit the environment but also provide excellent grip and comfort. Add non-slip stretchy bohemian headbands, lightweight, minimalistic jewellery such as thin bracelets, anklets, or stud earrings. Ultimately, the key is to feel good in what you are wearing and make your yoga journey enjoyable. Remember, at the end of the day, your practice is what truly matters. These clothing and accessories add a fun element for those who enjoy fashion, but the essence of yoga lies in your dedication and mindfulness."

Pregnancy dos and dont's

Yoga during pregnancy is another important topic. Sanjana Taneja Dixit, founder of Positive Ma and Yoga Acharya, shares insights on comfortable outfits for pregnant women practising yoga. "When pregnant, comfort is the most important consideration for yoga as it allows full range of motion, supports changing body needs, promotes breathing and relaxation, helps avoid irritation and injury, and boosts confidence. Finding the right attire can make a big difference in practice, so take time to create fashion that functions well."

She offers styling tips for pregnant yoga practitioners, saying, "Choose stretchy and breathable clothes. Opt for loose, flowy tops in breathable materials like cotton or modal to accommodate your growing belly. Invest in maternity activewear. Maternity yoga pants and tops with built-in belly support can provide comfort and coverage. Many brands now offer stylish, pregnancy-specific yoga wear. Layer with cardigans and jackets. Add a lightweight, fitted cardigan or zip-up jacket to create a layered look. Accessorise thoughtfully with cute headbands, scrunchies, or clips to keep your hair out of your face.

Consider simple yoga jewellery like stud earrings or a delicate necklace. Bring a stylish yoga mat tote or strap to complete your outfit. Focus on flattering fits – choose tops and bottoms that skim your curves rather than cling tight. Look for waistbands that sit comfortably below your belly. Experiment with different styles. Try various cuts and see what's most comfortable and flattering for your changing body. Don't be afraid to mix and match pieces from different activewear brands."

"The key is balancing functionality with fashion. By prioritising comfort and breathability, you can create outfits that make you feel confident, stylish, and able to fully focus on your practice," she says.

Outrage Fatigue Amidst A Burning Planet

OPEN SPACE
Dese Gowda
Reporter/Sub-Editor
desegowda@newindianexpress.com

As the monsoon arrived at the end of last month, parts of India, particularly the north, have been deluged with intense rainfall over the past few days. Delhi alone recorded 100mm of rain in just one hour last Friday, an astonishing 1.25 times the entire month's quota! Predictably, with the rains came suffering. Collapsing airports and bridges, along with gaping and flooded roads, have proved deadly to dozens of people across the country, not to mention the substantial loss of property.

For some time now, extreme weather events have become the new normal. The cause behind this is evident: the continued (and growing) greenhouse gas emissions have placed the world, especially countries in the global south like India, at the mercy of severe climate change. The World Meteorological Organization (WMO) predicts that we are dangerously close to crossing the threshold of 1.5°C of warming above pre-industrial levels in 2024. Yet, we are no closer to mitigating the impact of emissions, nor are we adequately equipped to deal with its consequences.

Whenever our cities, or in some cases, entire states, are battered by extreme flooding, we collectively look on in horror at the unfolding tragedies and rush to aid the victims. There is also widespread outrage about the state of disaster management in the country. However, within months, these events are relegated to the past, only to resurface when the next similar tragedy strikes.

Conversely, in the West, disruptive climate protests have recently become commonplace. From vandalising 'precious' human creations like the Mona Lisa and Stonehenge to chaining themselves to highways to stop traffic, such protests consistently evoke public outrage. Organisations like Just Stop Oil seek to raise awareness about the impact of climate change and the urgent need to stop burning fossil fuels immediately. The effectiveness of these protests is a topic of endless debate, but what's curious is the consistent outrage they provoke, both in the West and in India. Critics often argue that such protests do more harm than good to ordinary people.

Yet, when public figures – beloved or otherwise – are revealed to be making climate choices that do real harm to millions of lives worldwide, the response is often lukewarm. For instance, India's richest family, the Ambanis, retrofitted a cruiseliner for a lavish pre-wedding celebration across the Mediterranean. The cruise, apart from annoying the locals in Portofino, is estimated to have added at least 10,000 tonnes of CO_2 to the atmosphere.

Likewise, pop star Taylor Swift, currently enjoying unprecedented commercial success, has a well-documented history of frequent use of private jets – often flying for short distances lasting just 30 minutes. In 2023, her jet emissions alone were estimated to be around 1,200 tonnes of CO_2. For perspective, the average Indian's carbon footprint per year is 1.91 tonnes.

This disparity in reactions highlights a deeper issue: our willingness to criticise visible disruptions over the underlying systemic issues driving climate change. Like the proverbial frog in a boiling pot, slowly acclimating to the heat, we seem to be desensitised to the effects of climate change, while simultaneously experiencing fatigue from continuous outrage.

As the Earth continues to heat up, we must collectively cut emissions drastically to have any chance of halting the warming. But, there is neither the political will nor the commercial interest to do so. While the West points fingers at India and China for being the leading polluters now, they conveniently forget that their own substantial historical emissions led us here in the first place. Yet, the West, for the most part, has the luxury of accumulated social, economic, and real infrastructure to cope with the crisis's effects. The global south, particularly India, does not.

EXPRESS ILLUSTRATION

Our public infrastructure wouldn't win any quality awards even under the best of conditions, and it is certainly not equipped to withstand the worst of nature's might. Yet, we are setting an ambitious goal of becoming carbon neutral by 2070! From a neoliberal perspective, this goal might even make logical sense. But, given the current state of the country, one must question who benefits from future economic growth, if a large part of the population is taking a battering from the exponentially worsening impacts of climate change in the present.

There appears to be a limited window of opportunity for us, collectively as a society, to take charge and hold those responsible for excesses accountable – particularly those tasked with leading the nation out of this crisis. If we fail to act, those corny films from the late '90s and early 2000s that raked in record profits depicting climate catastrophe might soon become a sobering reality.

IS SUDEEP'S MAX AIMING FOR AN INDEPENDENCE DAY RELEASE?

A still from the film

Sudeep

An update by the makers suggests they are racing to secure the date and make the best use of the four-day holiday weekend

A SHARADHAA

THE latest update from the makers of Max is set to thrill Kichcha Sudeep's fans eagerly awaiting their favourite star's return to the silver screen since Vikrant Rona (2022). "A Big & Exciting update on your way! Get ready as Baadshah Kiccha Sudeep's Max steps into the race track for an epic journey!" This announcement by Max producer Kalaippuli S Thanu on Monday has stirred up quite the excitement.

At a recent event, the Pan-Indian actor Sudeep provided details about the status of Max and indicated a desire for an August release. While the makers have kept the details of the update undisclosed, speculations suggest that the makers are considering an August 15 release to capitalise on Independence Day and the subsequent holiday weekend, sparking a race to secure this four-day extravaganza.

Other films like Ganesh's Krishnam Pranaya Sakhi, Diganth-starrer Powder, and Indrajit Lankesh's Gowri are also set for release on Independence Day. However, if this big-ticket mass flick starring Sudeep is scheduled for an Independence Day release, it promises to rekindle a festive celebration of Kannada cinema. An official announcement on this matter is eagerly awaited.

Directed by Vijay Karthikeyaa, Max is billed to be an action-packed entertainer, with Sudeep donning the Khaki and also doubling up as co-producer under Kichcha Creatiions banner alongside V Creations. The film, which has generated buzz with its posters and teasers, stars Varalaxmi Sarathkumar, Samyuktha Hornad, Sukratha Wagle, and Anirudh Bhat in key roles. Shekar Chandra handles the cinematography, while Shivakumar and Ajanesh Loknath, who have previously worked with the Vikrant Rona actor, contribute to the art direction and music departments for Max, respectively.

Every released song from Bheema has been capturing listeners' hearts: Vijay Kumar

CE FEATURES

ACTOR-turned-director Vijay Kumar is generating excitement with his second film venture, Bheema, set to release on August 9. The makers have struck the right chord with their music, especially with songs like 'Bad Boys' and 'I Love You Kene...', composed by Charan Raj. They've continued the momentum with their latest single, 'Don't Worry Baby Chinnamma', written by Nagarjuna Sharma. This lively track has quickly become popular for its catchy tune, gaining millions of views within days of its release.

Speaking about the song, actor-director Vijay Kumar said, "We've recently launched a new song, 'Don't Worry Baby Chinnamma', and it's receiving great appreciation, especially from the younger audience. Every released song from Bheema has been capturing listeners' hearts, and this song is garnering a powerful response. A song serves as the perfect invitation to any film, and I am confident that today's youth and all segments of the audience will respond similarly to the film itself."

Produced by Krishna Sarthak and Jagadeesh Gowda under Krishna Creations and Jagadeesh Films, respectively, the film has cinematography by Shiva Sena. Bheema also introduces Ashwini, a former theatre artist making her acting debut, alongside Black Dragon Manju and Gili Gil Chandru, among others in the ensemble cast.

Kareena Kapoor Khan starrer The Buckingham Murders gets a release date

CE FEATURES

AFTER making a round at film festivals, the Kareena Kapoor Khan-starrer The Buckingham Murders now has a release date. The Hansal Mehta directorial will hit theatres on September 13, the makers announced on Monday. A police procedural, the film also stars Ash Tandon, Keith Allen, and chef Ranveer Brar. The film was earlier screened at the BFI London Film Festival 2023 and the Jio MAMI Film Festival the same year.

The film tells the story of a detective (Kareena), grieving over the murder of her child and tasked with solving the case of a missing kid. It is written by Aseem Arrora, Raghav Raj Kakker, and Kashyap Kapoor.

Balaji Motion Pictures is the production house behind the film. It is Kareena's first production venture. She produced the film along with Shobha Kapoor and Ekta Kapoor. Kareena's role in it is inspired by the character that Kate Winslet plays in the series Mare of Easttown.

Will Forte onboard Tina Fey's The Four Seasons adaptation for Netflix

CE FEATURES

EARLIER, we reported that Tina Fey is all set to star in, co-create, and executive produce the upcoming Netflix series The Four Seasons. The latest development is that Will Forte has been added to the cast, and he will be reuniting with Fey, his former Saturday Night Live colleague. Forte will be joining Steve Carell, Colman Domingo, Kerri Kenney-Silver, and Erika Henningsen.

The series is based on the 1981 film of the same name, penned and helmed by Alan Alda. Fey is co-creating the adaptation with Lang Fisher and Tracey Wigfield.

The Four Seasons, which also stars Alda, follows three couples who take vacations together. How the dynamics of the group change when one couple splits and the man brings a woman much younger to him forms the rest of the story. Carol Burnett, Len Cariou, Rita Moreno, Jack Weston, Sandy Dennis, and Bess Armstrong formed the cast of the film.

The Four Seasons series is set to begin production later this year.

Shreyas Chinga describes One and a Half as a technician's film

CE FEATURES

ACTOR Shreyas Chinga, who began his acting career with films like Rangbirangi, David, and The Vacant House, is all set to make his directorial debut with One and a Half. He also stars in the lead role alongside Manvita Harish Kamath as the heroine. The film has wrapped up shooting and is currently in post-production. Recently, the team unveiled a sneak peek of a song on producer R Charan's birthday.

Speaking at the event, Manvita expressed her enthusiasm, saying, "This film is special to me; it introduced a new person into my life. The film is also beautifully made. Manikanth Kadri's music is outstanding. Likhita Siri, my co-star, and I bonded well. Director Shreyas has done an excellent job, both as a director and an actor. Laughter and teamwork make every day on set a joy."

Director Shreyas Chinga highlighted the collaborative effort behind One and a Half describing it as a technician's film. "Every technician who worked in this film is like family, and they fulfilled their duties diligently. I thank the entire crew for their support. It's a unique film, and we need the support of the audience during these times. There's potential for it to be made in other languages too," he remarked.

Produced under the Sulakshmi Films banner, One and a Half is a comedy that has a protagonist named 'Kannada'. The ensemble cast includes Sadhu Kokila, Avinash, Suchendra Prasad, Sparsha Rekha, Ananthu, Sundarshree, Hitesh Kumar, Mahantesh Hiremath, Nikita Dorthodi, Lalita Naik, Rohit Arun Aman, and Rakhi Bhutappa. Devendra serves as the cinematographer for the film.
